Japan Objects to Close Inquiry on Relations With China

Other Nations Desire Emancipation Upon Broad Terms

Detailed Examination Minor Matters In Far East Not At All Agreeable to Oriental Delegates; Opens Old Sores

U.S., Britain, France, Italy and Netherlands Favor Commercial Liberty

TERRITORIAL INTEGRITY

Declaration of Rights Will Be Considered in Further Detail Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Japan joined with the other powers Saturday in an expression of sympathy for the national aspirations of China, but added a postscript regretting any tendency toward a detailed examination by the armaments conference into "innumerable minor matters" in the Far East. In a statement omitting mention of specific points of controversy between the two countries, the Japanese delegation informed the conference delegates that their government claimed no "special rights and privileges" in the procurement of raw materials from China, harbored no "policy of territorial aggrandizement," at China's expense, and was ready to join in any readjustment of extra territorial rights which appeared "fair and satisfactory."

To go into details, however, the statement declared, would be an attempt likely to result in undue protraction of the discussions—a reiteration of the objection Japan has expressed repeatedly against re-opening the many controversies in the Far East.

In turn, Great Britain, France Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Portugal expressed in broad terms their desire for the emancipation of China, through commercial liberty and preserved territorial integrity, a general position already having the adherence of the United States. Then the committee adjourned until Monday, when the discussion of principles is to give way to a more detailed consideration of China's declaration of rights. The session of the committee was the only formal action of the conference Saturday, although all the national groups conferred informally among themselves and there was a conference late in the afternoon between Secretary Hughes, Arthur J. Balfour and Admiral Baron Kato respective heads of the United States British and Japanese delegations. All three declined to talk about the meeting, but the inference was drawn that they had met to consider further plans of procedure for the naval armaments negotiations, in which the three governments are chief participants.

Land Armaments

Monday the conference will turn its attention for the moment to the question of land armaments, and at an open plenary session will hear from Premier Briand the French viewpoint regarding the maintenance of armies.

The committee meeting to resume the Far Eastern discussion will be held late in the afternoon, after the conclusion of the plenary session.

Baron Kato presented Japan's statement at Saturday's meeting in the absence of Mr. Shidehara who is ill. By the Japanese spokesmen China's troubles were attributed largely to internal causes with which it was declared the Tokio government had no desire to interfere, much as it desired to see China's "peace and unity" firmly established. Emphasis was laid upon the dependence of Japan upon a supply of raw materials from China, but Baron Kato insisted that the rule of equal opportunity for everyone must be preserved.

Old Principles Reiterated

The statement generally considered as merely a reiteration of the principles to which Japan has subscribed in the past, caused no surprize among the delegates, because of the previously indicated intention of the Japanese to avoid discussion of detailed subjects until the negotiations are more advanced.

Speaking for Great Britain, Mr. Balfour re-affirmed adherance to the open door and the policy of Chinese territorial integrity and said his government was ready to consider relinquishment of extra-territorial rights in China, "when circumstances warrant." For France, Premier Briand declared himself disposed to consider China's declaration of principles in the most favorable light, although details remained to be examined.

Italy's readiness to help in the free development of China was voiced by Senator Schanzer and there were general expressions of friendship and interest in China by Baron De Cartier for Belgium Viscount D'Alte for Portugal and Jonkheer Van Karnebeek for the Netherlands. The United States delegation made no statement the views of this government having been generally indicated by Secretary Hughes, when China presented her "ten points" at Thursday's session.

Stubborn Fire in Devonshire Apartment Block on Saturday; Loss Might Be Ten Thousand

Blaze Starting from Live Wire or Overheated Furnace in Zero Weather Chased Tenants from Eighteen Rooms—Most of Their Furniture Was Saved—Smoke and Water Did Damage

Damage estimated between $8,000.00 and $10,000.00 was done to the Devonshire apartments on 112th st. by a fire which broke out in the premises on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and which was variously ascribed to an overheated furnace and a live wire in the laundry room of the building.

Tenants of the 18 rooms in the three story block were driven out of the building in weather hovering well below the zero mark. The fire, a slow burning one and confined to the space between the walls, was hard to get at, and while the fireman who responded from one and two halls were endeavoring to fight the flames, the tenants who had remained in the building carried out practically all of the furniture in the rooms. Even pianos were removed.

The back of the building where the furnace flue was located was the place where the fire burned, and so stubbornly did it resist the efforts of the fire-fighters that a general call was sounded by the Hudson's Bay siren at 6 o'clock in the evening. All reserves responded. The fire finally broke out in the upper story and the partitions were burned down, resulting in a total collapse of the roof at the rear of the premises. The ground floor was damaged by smoke and water, while the upper part of the building was practically gutted. Dense columns of smoke hung in the corridors and handicapped the firemen. The block, owned by the Northern Investment agency, was covered by insurance, which will fully compensate the owners for the damage.

Chauffeur McNaughton, of the city police, who has been in the city service for 16 years and was captain of number 3 fire hall in 1911 before transferring to the police department, felt again the old call of the fire-fighter as well as the man, when he was told by a small boy that the boy's invalid mother, Mrs. Hutchinson, was on a sick bed in one of the suites. He groped his way through the dense smoke clouds in the corridors and carried out Mrs. Hutchinson and took her to a residence near the apartments. The task of locating the room was a difficult one, and the fumes from the smoke made it an especially hazardous undertaking.

The firemen had ample pressure from the water mains, and batteries of hose played on the interior walls of the building at the rear and kept the flames from spreading. Whenever an opening was made in the brick flue the flames flared out with new energy and required all the efforts of th fireman to hold it from spreading.

For the most part the fire smouldered between the wall spaces, giving off poisonous gases from the smoke, which was worse than an open blaze, and breaking out at every point where a fresh opening was made. Late in the evening the last lurking corners of the fire were located, and a small reserve of firemen were left on guard.

Firechief Davis and Assistant Firechief A. Dutton, directed the efforts of the fire-fighting forces. Chief of police Shute Inspector Fraser, Sergt. Newell and Sergt. Smith directed the work of the police in maintaining adequate fire lines.

Woolworth Fire Loss on Saturday More Than Two Hundred Thousand

CALGARY, Nov. 20.—Losses in the fire on Saturday which destroyed the Woolworth stores and most of the Royal Bank block in which the stores were located will total more than $200,000, it is estimated tonight. The loss on the building will be $100,000 and the Woolworth loss on stock will be $60,000 at least. Four firemen who were injured during the fire have almost entirely recovered. The fire was the third most serious one in the city's history.

CANADA WOULD BANISH THE SUBMARINE

LONG STEP IN BETTERMENT OF WORLD

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Sir Robert Borden, Canada's representative on the British delegation to the Washington conference, is quoted in the Herald today as declaring that Canada is in favor of the banishment of the submarine as a war weapon. The Herald quotes the former Canadian premier as saying: "Abolition of the use and construction of submarines would represent a long step in the direction of world betterment.

"Canada, although dependent upon the Empire for naval protection, would bring her full influence to bear in favor of the proposal to banish the under-sea boat."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Great Britain has endorsed without reservation the 5-5-3 ratio proposed in the United States naval limitation plan, it was learned tonight on highest authority. While accepting the plan as a whole only in principle because of their desire to put forward proposed modifications of the submarine and replacement features, the British delegation is said to have approved the suggested relative capital ship strenghth for Great Britain, the United States and Japan without equivocation.

Adherence of the British representatives to the capital ship ratio became known tonight as an aftermath of the conference yesterday between Secretary Hughes, Mr. Balfour and Admiral Kato, at which the naval question was canvassed thoroughly in the light of Japanese reservations.

MEIGHEN ENDS HIS CAMPAIGN ON PRAIRIES

Two Meetings at Dauphin Were in Support of Robert Cruise

WEST CANADA ISSUES

Voluntary Wheat Pool Planned to Be in Operation by Next Autumn

DAUPHIN, Man., Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Premier Meighen's election campaign insofar as western Canada is concerned, closed last night. The prime minister addressed two meetings here in the interest of Robert Cruise, former member and government candidate in Dauphin constituency, the first in the town hall and the overflow in the Dauphin theatre.

Premier Meighen discussed a number of issues, some of which he claimed were not issues at all, but merely blinds. "I often think" he said "that opposition speakers want to see that the people's mind are not too closely centred on what really counts in this election." In this category of false issues he placed charges made against the government that it had discriminated in favor of "big interests" by accepting a promissory note of the Riordan company, that it had been extravagent in expenditures, that it had built a mercantile marine without the sanction of parliament, and that it was wedded to the great industrials of the country.

Handling Grain Crop

The real issues of importance to western Canada primarily, but also the Dominion, were the handling of the grain crop, and the tariff insisted the premier. He dealt with the first at some length, tracing the abuses which led up to the formation of the Grain Growers' company, now the United GGrain Growers as a panacea. "Instead of removing the evils, the U .G. G. company has taken its seat on the grain exchange and prospered because of the very practices complained of," he asserted.

Mr. Crerar's claim that the profits of this company returned to the farmers, who produced the crop was not founded. In fact a large proportion of these had, he said, found their way into an organisation called the "Public Press, Limited," a subsidiary of the United Grain Growers, which financed the Grain Gowes' Guide, now being used to advance the political interests of the Progressive party. He had recently learned that the Guide had a subsidiary organisation which was producing a paper for similar puproses in the maritime provinces, the premier said.

Voluntary Grain Pool

Mr. Meighen stated definitely that the voluntary grain pool, which he proposes as a solution for the marketing problem, would be established in time to handle the crop next fall, if the government was returned. He contrasted this definite undertaking with the suggestions of the other party leaders, regarding the grain problem.

"Mr. King scarcely knows the difference between a wheat board and a pine board," he said. "And his promise is that he will consult with the wisest heads of his party as to what is the best thing to do, if he is the next premier."

Attacks Mr. Crerar

As to Mr. Crerar the prime minister said that the Progressive leader offered a solution which meant nothing. His policy was to let the farmers help themselves, a privilege which they always had with such reasonable assistance from the government as was necessary. Mr. Meighen asked what Mr. Crerar meant by reasonable assistance. "Even to this day, Mr. Crerar does not favor a wheat board," he declared. "Even to this day he will not commit himself to establish a wheat board a grain board or anything else."

"If all the industries in Canada were at the stage that those are which have no protective tariff, we wouldn't have five and a half million people in Canada" the premier insisted, in discussing the probably effect of tariff reduction or elimination in this country. Assertions that he advocated a high tariff were false. The party which he headed was determined to have a tariff which would per-

KING WOULD RE-OPEN QUESTION OF SOLDIER RE-ESTABLISHMENT BY THE FULLEST INVESTIGATION

Liberal Leader at Cobalt Answers Questionaire Presented by the G.W.V.A.—Duty to Returned Men Is Clear, He Declares—Favorable to Housing Scheme—Wants Solution of Unemployment Conditions

COBALT, Ont., Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Replying to the Great War Veterans' association questionaire which was placed before him at last night's meeting here, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, declared that he would favor, if returned to power, having the whole matter of soldier re-establishment thoroughly investigated by a special committee of parliament to see whether there was anything which Canada could do for her returned men which had not yet been done.

"Our duty to the returned men, their dependents and the dependents of those who have not come back, is clear," Mr. King stated. "It is a demand that we treat their requests with generosity which is more than mere justice. To the men who sacrificed their all in that fight for freedom, we owe all the freedom we have today. Though we must default the interest on the national debt (which would mean national bankruptcy), we cannot afford to let one of our returned men or their dependents suffer."

Mr. King declared he was wholeheartedly in favor of a reasonable measure of housing for ex-service men; immediate legislation looking towards the solution of unemployment conditions; endorsation of the proper re-establishment of 100 per cent. of our returned soldiers after adequate investigation; and an immigration and naturalization policy conducive to the continuation of British traditions and employment for Canadian citizens.

Dealing with the resolution requiring endorsation of the principle of future exclusion of Chinese and Japanese and prevention of sale or lease directly or indirectly of land to same, Mr. King reminded his audience that the present time was a bad time for discussion of such a question. The Chinese and Japanese questions were prominently before the world at the disarmament conference and for any Canadian public man at this time to make public statements with regard to the exclusion of Orientals would perhaps lead to serious differences at the great conference.

"If there had been less spending of public money needlessly in the past," Mr. King declared, "I do not think it would have been necessary to tell the returned men, as the government did, that we could do no more for them, because there was no money. Their requirements should be a first charge on this country, and I would favor seeing if there was not some way in which money now being spent needlessly could not be saved and made available to re-establishment."

Found Guilty of Theft From B.C. Ranchers Who Have Wholly Disappeared

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., Nov. 19.—A jury here yesterday found David Clark guilty of the theft of jewelry belonging to members of the Haldane family, who mysteriously disappeared from their ranch near Dragon Lake, B.C., last spring, and of whom nothing has been heard since. Sentence will be pronounced later.

Following the disappearance of Mr. and Mrs. J. Haldane and their son, the police, suspecting foul play, searched the district for clues, but without success.

Charles Gets Welcome to His Exile Residence; Pleased He Has Company

FUNCHAL, Madeira, Nov. 20. Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary, is receiving a hearty welcome from the residents of the island particularly of this city.

After landing Saturday, Charles and Zita motored to the villa which they occupy, and crowds gathered along the route to cheer them. The former ruler is guarded by plain clothes men and police. He has publicly expressed his satisfaction that he has been sent to Madeira and not to a barren island.

NEW ZEALAND'S CUT IN SALARY INCLUDES ALL

Ministers and Members of Parliament Are Involved in the Revision

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Included in a proposal of federal reductions of public service salaries in New Zealand as announced by Premier Massey in the New Zealand parliament Saturday, according to a cable from Reuter's correspondent at Wellington, will be the salaries of ministers of the government and members of parliament and also the salary of the governor general, Viscount Jellicoe. Premier Massey announced that Viscount Jellicoe had requested that in the general salary reduction schedule that he be not excluded. Economies to the amount of 2,000,000 pounds had been affected already by the government, Premier Massey announced and it was expected that further economies would amount to 1,250,000 pounds additional.

The proposal to reduce the salaries of public officials, the premier stated, was based upon figures commensurate with the lower cost of living.

Premier Massey emphasised the fact that he intended to have the country's finances maintained on a sound condition ad he added that he intended to reduce the taxation. He declared that he staked his political existence upon this action, and he predicted a surplus at the end of the Dominion's financial year.

FIVE DELEGATES FROM G.W.V.A. GO TO CONFERENCE

Nominations for Local 1922 Officers Now in Hands of the Secretary

Great War Veterans who assembled at the usual meeting held in the Memorial Hall, Sunday, sat from three o'clock in the afternoon until almost six o'clock in the evening in a general discussion of the affairs of the association.

Deciding to send five delegates to the provincial G.W.V.A. convention to be held in Calgary next month, the following were the selections of the meeting: James East, Tom Price, J. Walker, S. H. Carter and E. Poole. W. A. Irwin, as a member of the provincial executive, and Thomas Dace, vice-president of the Dominion G.W.V.A., will also be included in the Edmonton delegation to journey to the Calgary convention.

Local Officers

The election pot is again simmering in regard to the selection of officials to control the reins of office in the Edmonton G.W.V.A. local, and nominations already in the hands of the secretary include the following:

For president: F. C. Jamieson, A. Mason, J. G. Walker, J. C. Bowen and W. A. Irwin.

For vice-president: C. B. Reinhardt and E. Poole.

For second vice-president: R. V. Wilson and T. Price.

For executive: Comrades F. Bannard, Adamson, Dace, Plowman, Barron, Morrison, Hayman, Patterson, P. Miller, Lang and Dr. H. L. Collins.

The meeting decided to extend the time for receiving nominations until December 1st by which date all should be in the hands of Secretary S. H. Carter, at the Memorial Hall. It has also been definitely decided that the entire executive, including officials, be limited to eleven members.

Membership Campaign

Considerable discussion was taken up at Sunday's meeting in regard to the membership campaign which the local Great War Veterans' association intends to introduce in the near future. Comrade Walker pleaded for a general unity of all returned veterans not only for the purpose of solidifying the work among veterans themselves but for the sake of the dependents of all returned men. It was the contention of Comrade Walker that the caring for dependents should not be neglected and that the maximum of result could only be gained by a united front. The same speaker also urged that open meetings for all returned men be arranged irrespective of whether or not they are members of the G.W.V.A. These suggestions are to be acted upon.

Usual reports which showed a considerable amount of good work accomplished by the G. W. V. A. organisation during the past month, were also received from heads of committees in charge of the various departments.

A definite ruling was arrived at in regard to the admittance of returned men to the Memorial Hall and accordingly all returned men who desire will be permitted the use of the lounge and reading rooms after making application to the secretary for an admittance card.

FLOODS IN INDIANA ARE GROWING WORSE

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 20.—There was no prospect of relief tonight from the high waters which have flooded the lowlands [illegible] Wabash river in this district. The river reached a stage of 18.8 feet today and was still rising. [illegible] in the lowlands have been forced to leave their homes and much damage has been done to crops.

Grain Markets

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg, Nov. 19—After displaying a strong undertone for most of the session decided weakness developed uring the last hour on the wheat market here today and November futures broke about three cents from the high of the day, $1.12. Early in the session there appeared to be heavy buying of November and selling of deferred, which had the appearance of changing over of hedges against stocks in other positions. Heavy selling of November on profit-taking on the advance was responsible for the reversal and the prices close ⅛ to ⅝c lower.

All grades of cash wheat were in good demand again today, and the premiums were well maintained at 2¼c over for No. 1 northern and ⅝c under for No. 2. The demand was coming from export houses, millers and others saving tonnage to fill. Offerings, which were more liberal, were wel taken care of.

Coarse grains were active in both cash and futures, and prices were firmer. Inspections totalled 1,513 cars, of which 1,218 were wheat.

Opening futures were as follows:

Wheat, November ⅛c higher to ⅝c lower at 109⅛ to 109; December unchanged at 104⅝; May ¼c higher to ¼c lower at 106⅝ to ⅛.

Oats, November ½c higher at 45¼; December unchanged to ⅛c higher at 42⅛ to ¼; May ⅛c higher at 42⅜.

Barley, November ½c higher at 58.

Flax, December ½c higher at 168.

Rye, November unchanged at 87.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago Nov. 19—Light trading marked the first hour of the Chicago board of trade today. Wheat started ⅛c higher for December and virtually unchanged for May ,the prices being 109⅜ to 108½ and 111 to 111¼ for the latter. Reports that rumors of locust damage in Argentina were unfounded caused a slump but the ensuing rally took December to 109 and May to 111⅝ at the end of the first hour.

Corn started about steady to a shade highe rwith December 48⅛ and May 54⅝ to 54½. Some bidding in the cash market held it steady whe nwheat declined and it gained a fraction on the latter's rally.

Oats were dull but steady. December opening at 33⅛ o 33⅜ and May at 38⅛ to 38¼.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

New Strength Manifest in Toronto Trading

TORONTO, Nov. 19—The local stock market closed the week with a new demonstration of strength. Gains in government bonds on Saturday were sensational in some cases, especially in the 1934 Victory, which made a clean rise of 80 cents for the day, or 1.20 in two days, and 1.80 for the week. There was a strong call for the 1932 and 1937 victory bonds, each of which rose 30 cents on Saturday.

Imperial oil sold up 2¼ to 101, closing at 103 bid. Whalen Pulp was higher by 1 point at 9. Small declines were made by Canada Bread and Spanish preferred.

Favorite Stocks Dull When Not Reactionary in New York Saturday

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—Minor shares were conspicuous under pool auspices during Saturday's abbreviated stock market session, the usual favorites inclining to dullness, when not reactionary.

Junior oils absorbed a considerable part of the trading with minor rails, the latter including several of the cheaper coalers and cotton carriers.

Seasoned transportations, industrials and specialties eased under the week end realizing the occasional pressure. The latter tendency was noted in Bethlehem Steel and several of the cheaper motors.

Sales amounted to 400,000 shares.

Weekly reviews of financial, commercial and railway conditions were mixed but pointed anew to long-prevailing uncertainty. Pre-holiday trade at important distributing centres was reported as only fair and advices received by the American Railway association, disclosed an increase in the number of idle freight cars.

Gains ranked among liberty issues and the general bond market retained or enhanced its recent advances among rails, utilities and several of the International groups.

Total sales, par value, aggregated $8,750,000.

Saturday Saw Light Trading in Montreal

MONTREAL, Nov. 20 — Trading was light on the stock exchange on Saturday and the tone was easier. DEAD BODY FOUND OF MAN WHO WAS TRAPPED IN MINE

Cave In Occurred At Mountain Park—Rescue Work Rushed As Fast as Posisble

After being entombed for more than three days as a result of a cave-in at the Mountain Park Coal Mines west of this city, the dead body of P. Chernuk was found by the rescue party Thursday night. Word which reached local headquarters of the Alberta Provincial Police Saturday was to the effect that an inquest would be conducted at the scene of the fatality within the next few days.

Churnuk, who was a Russian, 33 years of age, and a miner in the employ of the Mountain Park Coal Co., was working on Monday as usual when the cave-in occurred entombing him. He was given no chance to escape and it is the presumption of the rescue party that he died of suffocation shortly after the accident.

It is announced by the police that everything possible was done to reach the entombed man at the earliest moment but that owing to the extremely dangerous task, rescue work could only be carried on very slowly.

The inquest is to be conducted by Coroner Laycock of Edson. Inspector Shaw of the mines department is at present at the scene of the fatality conducting investigations.

Woolworth's Store in Calgary Is Completely Gutted By Fire With Stock and Building Loss $100,000

Every Fire Brigade in City Called Out to Fight Threatening Blaze at Early Hour With Mercury 22 Below Zero—Loss Fully Covered by Insurance—Other Buildings Saved After Valiant Work.

Calgary, Alta., Nov. 19.—Woolworth's store on Eighth avenue West was completely gutted by fire early Saturday morning. The fire was discovered shortly after 6 a.m. and although there was a prompt response on the part of Chief Smart and the fighters from headquarters, by the time they arrived at the scene the store, owing to the inflamable nature of the contents, was blazing furiously.

Nothwithstanding the 22 below zero weather, the firemen worked valiantly, and despite the most trying conditions imaginable were able by 9.30 a.m. to have the blaze fairly well under control.

For some time it looked as if the fire would spread to Ashdowns, and also to the Royal Bank premises, but at 10.30 Chief Smart stated that there was every likelihood that they would be able to confine the fire to the Woolworth premises.

The Royal Bank and Ashdowns building were protected by fireproof walls, and the chief stated that only an explosion would make it possible for the conflagration to spread to them.

Every Fire Brigade Busy.

Every fire brigade in the city was on duty, eighty-six firemen altogether helping in fighting the flames.

Several of the fire fighters were injured by flying glass and other material, three of them being partly burned when a portion of the second floor fell in at the rear of the building. Tom Smart, of No. 6 station, brother of Cappy Smart, Captain N. McLaughlin, of No. 1 hall, and Alick Shearer were three of the firemen who were injured.

At ten o'clock the flames spread to the roof of the Royal Bank and was gaining considerable headway. The firemen were busy tearing the plaster from the ceiling to the top floor in an attempt to confine the flames to the roof of the building. Chief Smart expressed the opinion that the firemen would be able to save the remainder of the bank.

Ashdown's store on the other side of Woolworth's building at ten o'clock was practically safe from any further damage.

The flames had worked to the east and although Ashdown's was threatened for a time during the morning, it is now practically an assured fact that this building is safe. One of the firemen, after making an investigation found the east wall of Ashdown's cooled.

Loss Fully Covered.

Loss on Woolworth stock $50,000, fully insured.

Building loss so far $75,000, fully insured.

The Royal Bank chambers is owned by the Globe Realty Corporation, limited, of Montreal, a subsidiary company of the Royal Bank of Canada. The amount of insurance carried by this company on the Calgary building could not be ascertained this morning, the only known policy placed by this company through insurance brokers of Calgary, being one for $55,000. The remainder of the insurance was said to have been placed through Montreal firms.

mit the legitimate industries of Canada to compete with those of the United States and no higher. He declared that every candidate of the National Liberal and Conservative party from coast to coast supported this policy while candidates of the opposition were running on the platform which suited the particular county in which they were located. There were very few candidates running on the platform which Mr. King was pledged to support in the province of Quebec. In Ontario they were supporting protection in the industrial sections and free trade where they thought it would win votes.

Crerar in Manitoba

BASSWOOD Man., Nov. 20.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). —Charging the managers and speakers of the government election campaign with deliberate attempts to undermine confidence in the National Progressive movement by besmirching his own reputation and making unfounded charges against the United Grain Growers, Limited, Hon. T. A. Crerar devoted a long address here last night to refuting statements made by R. J. Henderson, at the Fort William hearing of the grain enquiry commission and other statements which have appeared in the public press.

Mr. Crerar said that the injunction of the grain enquiry commission had only been brought about when it seemed to become evident that its purposes were merely political. The United Grain Growers, he said, with their 36,000 shareholders, did not intend to become "the political football of a discredited party."

Mr. Crerar's Salary

His salary, said Mr. Crerar had been the object of much speculation and he informed his audience that it amounted to $15,000. Mr. Crerar was sure, he said, that the elevator companys would "jump at the chance" to charge half a cent a bushel for cleaning the grain, and allow the shippers to recover any amount received for screenings.

Mixing grain, he said, was legal and highly beneficial to the farmers. If tough and rejected grades were sold without treatment British and United States firms would get the whole benefit instead of this accruing to the Canadian producers.

Missing Men

Enquiries are being made for one Benjamin Frank Ryan, who was in Edmonton in 1912-13, and was in company with one George Christman. Whilst in Edmonton he lived at the St. James, Caledonian Temperance, and Pendennis hotels. Ryan's description would be about 6 feet in height, weight 200 lbs., grey-brown hair, blue eyes. Was of a jovial character and made many friends. Talked of going to Peace River. Any person knowing the whereabouts of the above will confer a favor by communicating with Inspector Piper, Alberta Provincial Police, Edmonton, Alta.

INTERNED IRISH SYMPATHISERS FREE

CORK, Nov. 20.—The last of the interned Irish sympathisers have been moved from Spike Island. In a bunch of 400 they were taken by train, guarded by 300 troops, to the former convict settlement of Mayborough. One of the most insistent complaints the Sinn Fein officials had made of Spike Island was that it was unsanitary.

DO YOU SMOKE TOO MUCH?

There are many men on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results. It causes palpitation, pain in the heart, irregularity of its beat, make the hands tremble sets the nerves on edge, causes shortness of breath, and loss of sleep.

To counteract this demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy to equal

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by the tobacco.

Mr. Frank Lutes, 71 Terrace Hill St., Brantford, Ont., writes: "I had been troubled with palpitation of the heart for a number of years, and by spells it would bother me a lot. The doctor told me it would stop on me some time if I did not cut out tobacco. When I would get a spell my heart would pound, and I would break out in a perspiration, and get so weak I would have to sit right down and quit my work; also in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going, I should say, about 120 beats a minute. About three years ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, took them, and found that they did the job. I am feeling fine and have gained over 20 pounds in weight."

Price 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co. Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

RAY OF HOPE IS EXTENDED TO NEW 'BAG MEN'

United Commercial Travellers Had Interesting Meeting on Saturday Night

The weather may have had considerable to do with the small attendance at the regular meeting of Edmonton Council No. 447 of the United Comemrcial Travellers of America which was held in the I.O.O.F. hall on Jasper avenue on Saturday evening last, but if the travellers were few in number they lacked nothing in enthusiasm, and those who braved the cold north wind were well repaid, because there was not a dull moment from the time the meeting was called to order at 7.45 until the close. Junior Councillor Ray Parrish took charge of the meeting owing to the absence of Senior Councillor Jock Rymer, who was out of the city. Upon bringing the usual ceremonies to a close it was found that six applicants for membership in the order were in waiting for initiation. These were Leonard G. Beatty, of Marshall-Wells Alberta Limited; O. B. Taylor, of the Orange Crush Co., Limited; W. F. Coleman, of McColl Bros. Co., Limited; W. H. G. Sinclair, of the McClary Manufacturing Co., Limited; H. F. Douglas, of the Alberta Milling Co., Limited; and Reg. Key, who represents Congdon-Marsh, Limited. The proper officer, having satisfied himself and assured the council that these men were physically fit and ready to undergo the ordeal of initiation, placed them in charge of the conductor and in due course they were pronounced to be good men and true and worthy of full membership in the order and entitled to all its rights and privileges. Councillor Fred Henderson is to be commended for the very able manner in which he gave the "Ray of Hope," and those present were unanimous in their appreciation. The transfer of Councillor V. C. Anderson from Winnipeg Council No. 154 was considered and passed upon, and Councillor Anderson was welcomed to Edmonton Council in the usual hearty manner.

The communication received from J. Oliver, chairman of the committee in charge of the carnival to be given in the Gyro Club in the Board of Trade rooms on December 15th, 16th and 17th, explaining that the proceeds of this undertaking were to be used in assisting to provide and equip additional playgrounds for the children in the city and asking for support from the U.C.T. members, was well received and enthusiastically discussed. Secretary Ray Schurman was instructed to advise the Gyro Club that the travellers would be only too pleased to lend their whole-hearted support to an undertaking of this kind, which was to provide a much-needed means of enjoyment for the kiddies.

It was learned, with regret, that Councillor Ed. Abbott was about to leave this city and take up his residence in Vancouver.

On behalf of the dance committee Councillor Bill Free reported that the two dances that were held in the Memorial hall this season had been well attended and were considered very successful both socially and financially. The next regular monthly dance will take place in the same hall on Friday evening, December 2nd.

A survey of the unemployed situation, with regard to travelling men, went to show that no travellers were reported out of positions, and this spoke volumes for Edmonton as a wholesale centre, especially at this time when so much unemployment is reported from other cities.

TWO BAKERIES ARE COMBINED; WILL EXPAND

Aim of Organization Is to Cater Especially to Wholesale Trade

A new company represented by Colonel S. C. Jamieson, has taken over the Ideal Bakery on the South Side and also the East End Bakery on the North side. The combined businesses will continue to operate under the charter of the Ideal Bakery, limited, and will really be expansion of the re-organised Ideal Bakery business. The combined output of these two plants will give the new company control of a considerable portion of the bread business of the city, and should conditions warrant it it is the intention of the directors to build an absolutely up-to-date bread plant on their down-town location. The policy of the new management will be to pay special attention to the wholesale end of the business as they consider that the stores go largely towards helping the bread business in the city. They have up-to-date means of distribution and will continue to serve the retail trade in this way. A. G. Fleming the manager of the former Ideal Bakery will act in a similar capacity in the new concern.

Police Court

In the city police court Saturday morning Dennis Pulford was arraigned on the charge of issuing a worthless cheque some time ago to Mrs. Hetu of the Queen's hotel. The amount of the cheque was $400. The accused was committed to stand his trial.

James Watson who was arrested by Detective John Watson as he attempted to sell in a second-hand store an overcoat which had previously been stolen was arraigned before Magistrate Primrose on the charge of being in unlawful possession of stolen goods. He pleaded guilty to the offence and was remanded for sentence till November 22nd.

CONCERT OF 49TH BATTALION BAND SUNDAY EVENING

Splendid in every way was the concert given in the Metropolitan theatre on Sunday evening, by the band of the 49th battalion. Though the mercury was making every effort to drop through the bottom of the thermometer, the theatre was crowded, and despite the temperature, the opening march set the pulses tingling, and just to keep up the ecitement, "Bonnie Dundee," the regimental march ushered the crowd into the street and sent everyone home perfectly happy.

The band was at full strength and it seemed like old times to see the "Forty-Niners" in their trusty khaki again. Conductor J. B. Daly produced some very excellent good work. The overture to "Barber of Seville" received very considerate treatment from all sections of the band. The "Faust" selection was particularly well played; there were many delicate points handled in a most praiseworthy fashion. No less artistic was the Minuetto from Haydn's 11th Symphony. "A Soldier's Life," a descriptive fantasia, completed the program.

Robert L. Bateman was the soloist. He gave a thoroughly enjoyable rendition of "The Floral Dance," and as an encore sang "Annie Laurie," most beautifully.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 19—Ex-Mayor George H. Lees, who was chairman of the referendum committee, is seeking to arrange a conference with Inspector Hales of the Ontario Liquor board to see if home-brewing cannot be stopped. The temperance people say that the sale of malt extracts and hops by the druggists to home brewers is mounting alarmingly and that a laughing stock is being made of the Ontario temperance act.

FORMER ALDERMAN OF CORK BURIED

DUBLIN, Nov. 19.—The body of Alderman Barry, of Cork, who was shot dead Tuesday in the Ballykinlar camp, where he had been interned, was taken to Cork Saturday morning after a requiem mass in the Cathedral, attended by thousands of Dublin's citizens. A guard of Irish volunteers accompanied the coffin.

Making History.

INFANT MORTALITY in past ages has been something frightful, something almost beyond belief, and even today it occupies the time and the mind of leading physicians in all countries. The death rate among infants is being gradually reduced through new methods of hygiene, new preventatives and new remedies for infants. This reduction in the death rate has NOT been accomplished by adapting the precautions taken and remedies used by adults. Rather has it been to keep clear of the old methods, and choose after long research the precautions and remedies specifically applicable to infants.

This being so, is it necessary for us to caution mothers against trying to give her baby relief with a remedy that she would use for herself? Will she remember that Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for infants and children?

Children Cry For

Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Of Course You Love Your Baby.

You love it because of its very helplessness, because it can't tell you what is the matter when it feels bad. It can only cry and look to you for help. But the more you love baby, the more you want to help baby, the more you ought to realize what a wonderful remedy Fletcher's Castoria is. It has been used for babies' ailments for over thirty years.

An experienced doctor discovered Fletcher's Castoria especially for babies' use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Doctors who knew what is safe and best for babies have only good to say of it.

Don't neglect your baby. Get a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria and give baby a few doses of it. See how the little one smiles at you as if trying to thank you for helping it. Soon you will learn to depend on Fletcher's Castoria, made just for Infants and Children, and of course you would not think of using anything for them that was not prepared especially for Infants and Children. So keep it in the house.

The Anglican students of the University are being entertained on Monday evening by the W.A. and the A.Y.P.A. of Holy Trinity church.

Professor and Mrs. A. T. Barnard entertained the Robertson college students and friends on Saturday evening at their home in Garneau. The evening was delightfully spent in progressive games, and a buffet supper was served.

• • •

Mrs. W. E. Morris entertained a little party of children on Saturday in honor of the birthday of her son Neil, who was three years old on that date. From three to six o'clock the little people enjoyed a jolly time in games, and probably enjoyed in equal degree gathering in the chairs round the pretty dining-table, where a big birthday cake with its three lighted candles, charmed their eyes, and where all kinds of good things that children like were in evidence. The children present were Isobel and Connie Ross, Anna and Betty Magee, Hazel Hutchings, Lilian and Lang Lendrum, Doris Boon, Russel and Ralph Cable and Marjorie Morris.

Mrs. B. R. Campbell, who has recently removed from 87th avenue to 83rd avenue, received a great surprise on Friday evening when a party of friends arrived at her new home to commemorate the occasion with a house-warming party. Progressive whist occupied the first part of the evening very delightfully, the prizes, which consisted of four handsome oil paintings, the gift of Mr. H. C. Shields, being won by Miss Lang, Arthur Hanks, Mrs. H. Schofield and Dr. Forbes. Mrs. G. B. Torrance was the winner of the "mystic" prize. After the refreshments were served and enjoyed Mrs. Campbell received another surprise when the gentlemen of the party presented her with a beautiful art jardiniere and the ladies asked her to accept a number of pretty china cups and saucers as souvenirs of the occasion. Dancing and music, with Mrs. H. C. Shields and Mrs. Campbell acting as pianists, occupied the rest of a happy evening. The guests were. Mr. and Mrs. H. Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. J. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. David Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. E. Turtle, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Torrance, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Shields Mrs. MacIntosh, Mrs. A. Dobie, Mrs. W. Westgate, Miss J. A. Lang Messrs. Flack, Smith and A. Hanks.

The girls of the Carry-on Mission circle of the Metropolitan church entertained at a tea on Saturday afternoon in aid of the funds of the society. In spite of the severe weather the church parlor in which the tea was held was very cheery and inviting, and a number of little tables with pretty white covers gave a dainty appearance. The superintendent, Mrs. J. R. Hodgson, and the president, Mrs. Audrey Hamilton, received the guests; and Mrs. A. G. McKitrick and Miss Switzer poured tea with the girls of the circle assisting in serving. A candy table was tempting with its gay boxes of home-made sweets, and here also a novelty in the form of a recipe for a "Scripture cake," each copy being accompanied by a delicious sample to prove the edibility of the finished article. A musical program given by the girls during the afternoon included vocal selections by Misses Mabel Collins and Bessie Campbell, the latter a little girl who sang very prettily "Papa, What Will You Take for Me." Piano solos were contributed by Misses Verona McVeigh, Esther Prevey, Julia Grimmett, Audrey Hamilton and Dora Horn; and Misses Doreen Cole and Gladys Duun played several pianoforte duets.

Women's Meetings

Young People's Society.

The Young People's Society of Westminster Presbyterian church will hold their regular meeting on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. This meeting will take the form of a real social evening, under the convenorship of Miss Cathie Hoyle. A good time is assured for all.

The annual dance of the 19th Alberta Dragoons Chapter, I.O.D.E., which took place on Friday evening in the Connaught Armories, proved as delightful as the dances of previous seasons. Pretty faces and dresses, perfect music, and a good floor made an ideal combination, and the hall, with its military appurtenances, symbols, and flags, was a fitting background for a gay scene. For those who did not wish to dance cards were available, and a number of guests found the card-room an attractive spot.

The guests were received by the officers of the chapter, of which Mrs. Douglas Maclean is regent. A delicious buffet supper was served at eleven o'clock, the tables being prettily decorated in a scheme of pink and white.

Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. D. Maclean, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Macalister, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson, Dr. and Mrs. Evan Greene, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. The Alumnae association of the University of Alberta met at luncheon in the Board of Trade rooms, Saturday, about eighty five being present.

Owing to the illness of Rev. Comyn Ching, the meeting was addressed by Dean Boyle who gave an interesting discourse on Engineering, referring to the different branches and the field in this province for the engineering on account of the great natural resources. The organizing of the engineering profession which has recently been effected will have the result of raising the standard of the profession, the members of which will look after their own interests to their own benefit.

On the recommandation of the president, J. Dixon Craig, the meeting decided to hold a dinner in January to which all the graduating class will be invited.

The members of St. Anthony's young people's society held a very enjoyable social evening on Thursday, November 17.

The entertainment committee, composed of Miss Mannie Wankel, Miss Annie Allan, Jim Smith and Martin Murray, had an interesting program arranged, which, with the cooperation of the members was successfully carried out.

The outstanding feature of the program was a farewell address delivered by Rev. Stacey, who is about to leave for Hanna. During his sojourn in Edmonton Rev. Fr. Stacey has displayed a marked interest in the welfare of the society and all the members join in wishing him every sucess in his new field of labor. To Rev. Fr. Rockwood, another staunch supporter, who is also being transfered, the same sincere wishes are extended.

The committee in charge of the next social evening will hold a skating party.

A meeting of all liberal women of the west Edmonton constituency is called for three o'clock Tuesday afternoon, in the west end liberal committee rooms, 102nd street, south of Johnstone Walker's store. It is urged that all women attend this important meeting, as several matters of great importance will be discussed in connection with the election which are of deepest interest to women. This meeting is entirely different from the meeting called in the liberal committee rooms for Monday.

SOME NON-NITROGENOUS COMPOUNDS

Those compounds of food in which nitrogen does not predominate consist mainly of cellulose, starch, sugar, and fat. These are divided into carbohydrates, pectose substances or jellies, fats, organic acids, essential oils and complex compiunds. In plants the chief elements are carbohydrates; in animal tissues, the non-nitrogenous constituents are chiefly fats. Carbohydrates are compounds of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen; the hydrogen and oxygen in the proportion of two to one. They make up the bulk of vegetable foods and occur in milk, but not to any appreciable extent in other animal foods.

Cellulose is the woody or cellular structure of plants. Sometimes it is hard, and mechanically encloses nutrient foods, preventing their digestion. In early stages of plant growth, cellulose is in combination with water, and is partly digestible and serves to that extent as fuel food. Ordinarily its chief value is to aid digestion by giving bulk, and so assisting the action of elimination.

Starch occurs chiefly in the seeds, roots and tubers of various plants. Starch grains from the different plants differ a good deal in structure, those in wheat being circular, in corn somewhat angular in parsnips very small, in potatoes, very large, relatively. Starch is insoluble in cold water, but in hot the grains are partly broken up. Cooking is necessary for starchy foods to break up the masses and render them subject to the action of the ferments of the digestive tract. When cooked at a high temperature, the starch atoms are rearranged to produce dextrine and soluble carbohydrates. It is dextrine that is formed on the crust of bread or when other starchy foods are browned. At still higher temperature starch is decomposed into water and carbonic compounds. Heated so, in water, the starch is hydrated, making jelly-like substances which are finally made soluble. That is what happens when cereals are well-cooked. In digestion, starch is first made soluble if it has not been made so by cooking; then it is gradually oxidized or burned by the body, giving heat and energy. It is a very valuable heat-producing nutrient a pound yields eighteen hundred and sixty calories.

Hon. Mrs. Ralph Smith Holds Own Beliefs; Resigns Her Office

VICTORIA, Nov. 20.—Hon. Mrs. Ralph Smith, member without portfolio in the Oliver government and the first woman cabinet member in the British Empire, has resigned her office. In her letter of resignation, made public Saturday night, Mrs. Smith said: "I herewith tender my resignation as a member of the executive council and minister without portfolio. For some time I have felt, as you know, that I should take this course as I have been in the unfortunate position of having to assume the responsibility of acts of the government without being in a position to criticize or advise.

"As a member of the council I have been precluded from criticism and that is perhaps not a good thing in one's constituency. Any other reasons I can give in due course.

"I am primarily interested in women and children and no matter what government has the power, as long as I can serve the people who I have the honor to represent, then I shall find the happiness that public life gives."

THREE SCORE AND TEN

(Respectfully dedicated to His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Brett)

Three score and ten short years have sped
Their magic flight o'er thy gray head;
The heart of youth still glows in thee—
A ray of gold on sunset sea.

Thy kindly help the sick have sought;
With hand and science thou hast wrought
The cure of many an eager throng,
Who homeward went singing life's song.

In late years a higher command
Made thee the "first man of the land;"
We learned to love thy cheerful sway,
Thy consort and her gentle way.

Oftimes, the portals of thy home
Are open wide to those who roam
The different fields and walks of life;
Thou spreadest joy and sweet delight.

"Ad multos annos," we hope to keep
November fifteenth, a day to greet
Your Honor. May you enjoy
Life's great and good things unalloyed.
VALERIE P. BOULANGER.

A certain gentleman was invited to speak at a local gathering and being nobody in particular, was placed last on the list of speakers. The audience was tired out by the time the chairman rose and announced: "Mr. Brown will now give us his address."

"My address," said Mr. Brown, rising, "is 55 Rushton avenue. I wish you all good-night."

WAS TROUBLED WITH HER STOMACH FOR FIVE YEARS

Mrs. Samuel Ward, Millerdale, Sask. writes: "I feel that I must write to you before another day passes, I am so happy and so gratful to your splendid medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, for after an illness of five years I am better.

"I had stomach trouble so bad I could not bear the smell or taste of food of any kind, and got so thin and weak I could not work. I had four doctors attend me, but they did me no good. I was in no pain but felt so ill, at times, I thought I would die, in fact, all my friends were sure I could not live many weeks.

"This time last year I saw where a man was relieved of stomach trouble by Burdock Blood Bitters, so my husband got me two bottles but I had no faith in it after all the different medicines I had taken; however, he insisted, and after the first two days I must say I began to feel better, and after the first bottle I felt so much better I went out a little every day but could not go alone, I was so weak, but I soon got so I could walk and eat, and have got quite stout.

"I am nearly seventy years of age and I feel better than I have for years and can now do all my housework.

"You may make use of this letter if you wish, as it may be the means of making others as well and as happy as I am."

Get Nerve Force from Nuxated Iron

It will strengthen your nerves and increase your vigor and endurance, often in two weeks' time. It contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most nearly resembles that in the brain and nerve cells of man. It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood, and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Organic Iron enriches the blood and plenty of rich red blood means more nerve force, so that Nuxated Iron not only feeds what might be termed artificial nerve force to the nerve cells, but it stimulates the blood to manufacture a greatly increased supply of new nerve force. Get a bottle of Nuxated Iron today, and if within two weeks' time you do not feel that it has increased your nerve force, and made you feel better and stronger in every way, your money will be refunded. Sold by all druggists.

The Price of a Piano

Ten or twenty years from now, if you want to sell your Mason & Risch Piano, you can get a great deal more for it than for an ordinary instrument.

WHY? Because the quality of tone improves with age.

CORK ALDERMAN IS BURIED WITH GREAT HONORS

Big Demonstration Takes Place At Interment of Man Who Was Shot

Dublin, Nov. 18—A funeral of Alderman Barry, a well known Cork citizen who was shot dead on Tuesday in the Ballykinlar Camp, where he had been interned, was made the occasion today for the greatest demonstration since the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork. The camp granted temporary paroles to several interned men to enable them to form a guard of honor. Daniel O'Callaghan Lord Mayor of Cork, and Liam Roitaite and J. J. Walsh, members of the house of commons for Cork were the chief mourners.

A motor hearse brought the body of Barry from the camp to Dublin; all along the route Sinn Feiners gathered to pay tribute. On its arrival there was a great demonstration by civic and labor bodies, after which the coffin was deposited in the Cathedral. Interment will take place tomorrow.

The circumstances of Alderman Barry's death are not clear, but the belief was expressed on the day it was reported that the shot was fired as a lorry containing several interned men, including the Alderman was leaving the Ballykinlar camp. The sentry on duty was arrested and orders were given for an investigation.

SPRING WEATHER AGAIN IN EASTERN CANADA.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—In striking contrast to the cold weather and severe snow storms of the early part of the week, where more snow fell than during the whole of November last year, Montreal is today experiencing weather that is extremely reminiscent of spring. For the ice and snow has nearly all melted.

Liver Pains

Pains under the shoulder blades tell of liver derangements.

Other indications are sallow complexion, indigestion, constipation, biliousness and bilious headaches.

The quickest way to arouse the liver to healthful action is by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Continued use will insure lasting relief, correct the whole digestive system and purify the blood.

Mrs. Wm. Barten, Hanover, Ont., writes:

"For some time I suffered from liver trouble. There was a hard, bearing-down feeling in my back which I could not get rid of. Some one advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and found them excellent. The dragging feeling in my back disappeared and I felt much benefitted generally. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and always keep them on hand for general use."

Premier Meighen Addresses Meetings at Regina and Moose Jaw; Deals With Marketing of Grain

Regina, Nov. 18—(By Canadian Press staff correspondent)—In spite of unseasonably cold weather a crowd of approximately five thousand people came to the Stadium this evening to hear the prime minister. Mr. Meighen was somewhat pressed for time. He arrived in Regina shortly after seven o'clock from Moose Jaw where he addressed a large meeting and his train for the east left at ten minutes to eleven.

Speaking at Moose Jaw in the afternoon, the premier referred to the investigation into western grain companies which was halted by an injunction since set aside. "I am sorry that Judge Hyndman wires me that he is confined to his bed and cannot proceed for a time, but he realizes that the investigation must go on and it will go on," said the premier. "Why didn't you establish it last fall?" a man called out when the premier was discussing his grain pool proposal.

"Am I not being accused on every platform in Canada by Mr. Crerar and Mr. King with doing everything without the authority of the people?" the premier asked in reply.

"Now we have an important matter—the establishment of a new method of marketing our grain, and I am criticized for referring it to the people." He went on to say that Mr. Crerar had declared against the wheat board as a permanent policy.

Ridiculed Crerar's Policy.

The premier ridiculed Mr. Crerar's policy in regard to the marketing of Canadian grain as reported in a newspaper from which Mr. Meighen read. Mr. Crerar was reported as saying that he favored the co-operation of the farmers to deal with the grain business "with whatever reasonable assistance from the government, which might be necessary."

Mr. Crerar's solution left things just where they were.

Moose Jaw, Nov. 18—(By Canadian Press, staff correspondent)—Premier Meighen's first meeting in Saskatchewan was held here this afternoon. A large audience gathered in the armories to listen to the prime minister who was introduced as "the only premier western Canada had ever given to the Dominion."

James Pascoe, M.L.A., for Moose Jaw, spoke first and was followed by ex-Mayor S. A. Hamilton, government candidate in the riding. He was not satisfied that the board of railway commissioners was serving western Canada as it should, said Mr. Hamilton, in protesting against freight rates on lumber from the coast. He advocated the establishment of a branch of the railway commission at some western point to handle railway problems peculiar to the west.

The premier devoted some of his time to discussing the problems which faced a large number of westerners due to frequent drought.

"The time has come when the proper authorities must address themselves to solving this problem" he said. The Federal government should meet the provincial authorities and thresh the whole matter out in an effort to arrive at a solution. He suggested that the problem might be solved by furnishing the settlers in the dried-out areas with secondary homesteads but the fact that municipalities had been established and that money had been expended in the dried out areas made the problem more difficult.

It must be solved, however, and for his part he was prepared to address his best energies to its solution. He then turned to a discussion of a voluntary wheat pool introduced by himself, to replace the system of grain handling in the west.

The premier remarked that the Liberal leader had discussed the heroic part he played in the Grand Trunk strike of 1910, as a reason for getting the vote of the railwaymen in Moose Jaw. The fact of the matter was that Mr. Hays promised to reinstate the strikers lay in cold storage for years, and the Laurier government passed legislation for the Grand Trunk in the interval. After the present government came into power, Hon. T. W. Crothers, then minister of labor, insisted that Mr. Hays' agreement to take back the strikers be implemented and this was done before the Grand Trunk could get any legislation through parliament. Mr. King and Mr. Murdoch who "had long been political bed fellows" were trying to make capital out of this matter but railway men from all over Canada knew how much value to place in their arguments, said the premier.

U.S. Superdreadnought Launched Only To Be Scrapped Shortly

Washington Nov. 19—Launched as one of the proudest and greatest battleships ever designed by the United States navy only to be scrapped within a few months appeared to be the fate of the superdreadnought West Virginia today when she slipped from the ways of the Newport News shipbuilding and drydock company.

The Hughes naval reduction plan as presented to the armament conference provides for the scrapping of the West Virginia. If the plan is agreed to, the dreadnought today about 65 per cent. complete, will never be finished.

No device that genius of war experience has combined to produce has been omitted from the ship's fighting equipment.

Hon. Charles Murphy Tells How Soldiers' Votes Manipulated

Tilsonburg, Ont., Nov. 18—Col. rank Reid, of London was to be a igadier general with salary commensurate with his rank and in the stribution of honors he would in e time become a C.B. That was to h's reward for activities during the 17 election and what was he to do it? I'll tell you; "steal 80,000 soldiers votes. So declared Hon. Char- Murphy, former M.P., for Russell secretary of state in the late rier administration addressing meeting here tonight in the in- t of M. G. Dean, Mayor of Tilurg, and Liberal candidate in the th riding of Oxford in the present ral campaign.

he art of giving the soldiers' vote so manipulated continued Mr. phy that it resulted in the "most ious theft of power in history." election was deliberately arrang that 80,000 votes of soldiers ere overseas would be done up like so many bushels of grain iverted as deemed best in the tain ridings. People of the name ector MacInnes, Col. Frank Reid rly of London, Ontario, and quently of Argyll House, London England, made arrangements with gentlemen by name of Sir Edward Kemp and Sir George Perley whereby if Col. Reid were successfully to steal the 80,000, they would be amply repaid, Mr. Murphy said.

Mr. Murphy went on in detail to illustrate what he termed the "decency and fairness," reading copies of messages that he said were exchanged between Col. Reid and Mr. MacInnes. Between the latter and Premier Meighen and between others similarly interested in the election.

"But Col. Frank accepted his bit," he said. "Nothing backward about Frank. Oh, no. In fact it developed that he turned over not the 80,000 but 125,000 soldiers' votes. Belgian soldiers voted under Frank's arrangement, also American, French and English. Its' really amazing the great interest that was taken overseas in our election.

"Naturally, with his bit well done Col. Reid reasons that he should get his dues, but they were not forthcoming and so he began to murmur at first gently and then with great vehemence and insistence. He wanted his C.B., but failing this, he showed letters, papers, cables and even photographs to illustrate the methods. That's how we know all about it today, and yet Sir Robert Borden who knew that 100 Laurier votes were placed to the credit of the Union government in King's county, Nova Scotia his own riding, and who himself was the recipient of a cabled appeal for 1,000 votes from the west from no less a person than the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, has the audacity to get up and say "No election was ever more decently conducted."

WESTERN CANADA BAKERIES

Paisley the Dominant Note

By Eleanor Gunn

If the knickerbocker suit decides to remain on the list of utilitarian garments, and it would seem that it has been pretty universally adopted, it will cease to be a novelty, and develop into the class of garments that require color combinations, and materials other than the dark serges and tweed mixtures that were featured when the costume first came to prominence. One of the new spring models, that is being shown in advance of the winter resort exodus, is an artistic creation in blue duvetyn The long coat and knickers are made of the duvetyn, and paisley printed suede serves for the sleeves and separate cossack.

Leather of all descriptions is occupying a very prominent place as trimming. One finds it doing duty piping inset pockets on sports skirts and even binding the seams. And now, suede comes along, and not being satisfied with being used as trimming it must needs get itself all dressed up in coats, vestees, collars and cuffs and what not because of its adaptibility to printed designs. One of the Fifth Ave. designers has created a material from the suede that he calls Mokabuk and is using it for sports coats to go with a silk jersey sports skirt. Panels of the jersey hang at either side of the skirt and are finished with borders of the Mokabuk which is finely cut at the bottom, forming its own fringe. This same finish is used for the bottom of the jacket, and the sleeves.

The new materials, particularly those that are to be used for the knickerbocker suits, lend themselves so admirably to millinery that it will not be unusual to see a hat made from the costume material. Duvetyn, with its soft velvety surface is fashioned into hats of a crushable sports type that may be stored away in the smallest possible space of the steamer trunk or the travelling bag, and pulled out at the end of the journey just as fresh as though they had just come from a milliner's window. They make wonderful hats for travelling, so light that the wearer is scarcely conscious of a hat being on the head.

As long as one is considering the "top" why not think also of the "toe" which reminds me to ask if you have noticed the lovely hosiery that the shops are showing. Of course it is woolen, for sports costumes are not complete without cashmere or silk and wool stockings that have clocks at either side embroidered in high colors. Our feet are the most expensive part of us these days, since fashion decrees that we be shod in keeping with our costumes, and low heeled shoes, strapped across the instep are the swagger footgear for the woolen hose and knickerbockers. Black patent leather shoes with red heels are being worn with dresses and one woman was seen on Fifth Avenue recently garbed in black except for the red heels of her slippers and her red leather purse.

Methodist Women Of The City Hold A Union Meeting

A union meeting of the Methodist Women's Missionary society of the city was held in McDougall church on Friday afternoon, Mrs. W. T. Ash branch president presiding. Mrs. Sidley of China gave a scripture reading from St. James and asked all present to pray for the success of the special medical work of China. Miss Caroline Wellwoog the society's representative in China but now on furlough was the speaker of the afternoon and mentioned the fact that she and Mrs. Sidley were two of the members of the first party that sailed for China 15 years ago.

In her address she spoke of the valuable work of the nurses' training school and girls' boarding school. The speaker's chief message was what she termed the Macedonian call of the women of China to christian women of Canada and contracted the slow response to the ready response of the political and commercial calls. One fact was submitted by way of contrast of the British American Tobacco Company which had agents in all parts of China even far beyond the missionary area.

Miss Wellwoog spoke of the poverty of the Chinese, the condition of their women and the high infant mortality. The condition of girls who worked in wealthy homes and who were little better than slaves was outlined by the speaker who also referred to the great uneducated masses in China today. The only hope for China she stated as the gospel of Jesus Christ. An earnest appeal for workers was made at the close of the address. Miss Wellwoog also sang a well chosen solo.

At the close of the meeting a social hour was spent in the basement of the church and many sealers of fruit were donated to Radway Centre Missionary school which is to be opened on Wednesday night.

LAUNDRY OWNERS NEED MORE PUBLICITY

Toronto, Nov. 19—That power laundry owners were lax in seeking proper publicity through the columns of the daily newspapers was a charge made by W. E. Fitch, manager of the Laundry Owners' association, yesterday in his address at the third annual convention of the Ontario Laundry Owners' association here. He recommended that laundry owners should spend five per cent of their gross receipts on newspaper advertising.

Seven Are Killed When Fast Train Hits Funeral Car

Driver of Automobile Unable To See Train Owing to Heavy Snowstorm

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Seven persons were instantly killed and a funeral limousine in which they were riding was demolished when a fast Santa Fe train crashed into the machine as it was crossing the tracks between Summit and Lyons, this morning.

Parts of the victims' bodies and fragments of the machine were strewn along the track for nearly a mile. The accident occurred at a bend in the road and it was thought the driver was unable to see the approaching train on account of a driving snowstorm.

While Santa Fe officials reported but seven dead, witnesses of the accident said they counted the bodies of eleven victims along the tracks. They said five men and a boy and girl, supposed to be about eight years old were among the victims.

City Council Organize Tag Day On Saturday Next to Obtain Funds for Eskimos' Trip to East

Decide That Cannot Use Public Money For Such Purpose —Grant Might be Stopped by Injunction—Any Money Returned to Be Used for Welfare Work.

For the purpose of assisting in securing the funds for sending the Eskimos Rugby team to Toronto to fight for the Dominion rugby championship, a special tag day will be held on Saturday next, under the auspices of the Mayor and City Council. To all intents and purposes it will be a municipal tag day. As the money obtained will be paid into what is really a guarantee fund, which will not be needed if the gate at Toronto proves sufficient to meet the expenses of the teams, any money that is eventually returned will be handed over to the Welfare Board for the purpose of alleviating distress in the city this winter.

On Saturday morning the mayor stated that this was the way out which after discussing whether a grant could had been decided upon by the council be made towards the expenses of the team. It was agreed that council had no authority to authorize the use of public money for such a purpose, and even if a grant was approved, it was considered most probable that the courts would uphold any application for an injunction to prevent the payment of the money.

Other considerations were that the council could not very well devote money to such a purpose, in view of the large number of applications for utilities which could not be taken care of owing to lack of funds.

However, the fact of sending the team east to compete for the championship was an event calculated to give the city much favorable publicity and under the circumstances it was considered that the tag day should be recommended.

All the money like the $1,500 promised by the Rotary club, goes into the guarantee fund, and the amount to be expended entirely depends upon the amount that will be received from the gate when the championship match takes place.

The tag day is generally approved by the members of council.

Would Require An Army To Stop Booze Smuggling

Halifax, Nov. 18—Nothing short of a cordon of 25,000 troops around the Island, will ever keep smuggling of booze down in Cape Breton, declared Capt. Alfred Lacouvee, commander of H.M.C.S. Margaret here today.

The Margaret has been on patrol duty off the cape coast, all summer and has captured seven smuggling schooners as well as overhauling and searching numerous suspects.

"Not in my 26 years' experience in the patrol service of the Canadian government have I ever run up against a tougher proposition than that of keeping liquor out of Cape Breton," Captain Lacouvee said.

Ottawa, Nov. 19—This week's Canada Gazette contains notice of 58 assignments under the Bankruptcy act.

Robbers Get Away With Diamonds Worth $100,000

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—Three robbers who entered the Gittleson Jewellery company store some time during the night ovrpowered Harry Wiesman, manager, upon his arrival shortly after 6 a.m. today, forcing him to open teh safe door and shut off the burglar alarm and escaped with jewels valued at $100,000, according to the police.

Weisman told police that the men who were armed, overpowered him, left him bound and gagged in the basement. He said he heard them leave the store about ten minutes after he had been trussed up in the basement. Later he succeeded in liberating himself, but found that all telephones in the store had been disconnected.

"When Chaos Reigns."

As the Calgary Albertan says the political conditions are not merely in an uproar: they are in chaos. That being the case, naturally the Albertan is right in its element and having the time of its life. It is whooping it up for the Bolshevik candidate in East Calgary, slugging the Liberal candidate in West Calgary, and otherwise and generally doing what it can to perpetuate pandemonium, promote groupism, and make the House of Commons the reflection of an electoral brain storm.

This is the open season for political oddities, running all the way from red revolutionaries to half-baked irresponsibles, and from fakirs down to faddists and freaks. It is a free country, thanks to the much-abused, time-honored, and highly efficient system of party government; the atmosphere is favorable to novelties; and why shouldn't anybody who wants to get a typewriter or a soap box and make the welkin ring with whatever nonsense may have come into his head over night? There is no law against rocking the boat.

It is notable that these noisemakers are flocking to the Progressive camp. That is a providential deliverance for the older parties, but it is making the farmer take in some strange bed-fellows. Friend Crerar must feel about now that he is being made to run a sort of Adullam's cave, whither all who have a grouch and all who have come to look to Moscow as the political Mecca are resorting. If he ever sits down to tabulate the wierd assortment of nostrums that are being prescribed in his name he must feel like committing murder or hari-kari.

At present the Progressive party, through its menagerie of hangers-on is being made to stand sponsor for such wildly inconsistent propositions as: a protective tariff—and free trade; the independence of parliament—and the recall system; high wages—and cheap living; low wages—and dear living; freedom of contract—and an eight-hour day law; dear wheat—and cheap flour; more profits for the farmer—and the nationalisation of farmers; individualism—and socialism; a national banking system—and fiat money; better marketing facilities for farmers—and the tearing up of railway lines; the supremacy of law—and the invalidation of the Grain Act; the lightening of the farmers' tax burden—and the abolition of the tariff—paying the country's debts—and cooking accounts so as to camouflage the cost of the National Railway system.

Do the rank and file of the members of the Progressive party believe that any such wild program of mutually destructive ideas could be put into the statute books by a House of Commons recruited outside the insane asylums? Or that if put there the propositions involved could be carried out? Emphatically they do not. But to all these things the Progressives are being tied up, by their political leaders and the political associates who have gravitated to them because they are trying to break down the traditional party system and establish a "group" system under which the advocates of these and all other political conceptions and misconceptions could attain representative standing and either force their wills upon the public or dead-lock the machinery of government.

The organised farmer mainly against his will, and in some notable cases because he doesn't understand, is being made the rallying centre of the strangest company of political peculiarities ever seen in the country. Not because the freaks are farmers, or want to help the farmer, or intend to support the farmer's plans; but because they think they can "ride" the new party and know that they cannot ride the old ones. Their aim is to get the farmer to do the voting and let them do the governing. Chaotic conditions give them the chance to get into the limelight, and they are occupying the platform now so generally that the farmer must sometimes wonder who owns the show.

It might do no harm at this stage for the organised farmer to do a little thinking as to where his party is "progressing" to. It is being made to stand for things he would not countenance for a moment. It is being used by factions and sections whose interests are diametrically opposed to his own. It is being used to divide the low-tariff voters of western Canada, and to thus give election to Government supporters in constituencies where they could not possibly win under any other circumstances. It is, willingly or unwillingly, fighting the battle of those "interests" which seek to re-establish the present Government on a clearly declared policy of revising the tariff upward. Whatever it aims to do, that is what the Progressive party, with its ill-assorted following of communists, theorists, and other inconsistent elements, is actually doing.

"When chaos reigns" it is time for men with heads on their shoulders to use them.

Gargle—and Keep Gargling.

The school board is talking about having the doctors inject serum into all school children who are judged to be susceptible to diphtheria. It may come to something of the kind if the malady is not checked. Meantime, salt and water are cheap, the youngsters take to gargling as a new kind of game, and if done regularly it is as good a preventive as any serum ever invented. The germ has no chance in a clean throat.

The Real Mystery

British Unionists at their party conference seem to have disclosed a conviction that there is a real difference of opinion between the Sinn Fein and the Ulsterites. That amazing discovery is matched by their expressed wonderment as to whether Lloyd George will call a general election or resign. That the Unionists should have stumbled over the notion that De Valera and Sir James Craig do not see eye to eye on Irish affairs is understandable, but where did they ever get the idea that Lloyd George is a resigner?

Taxing Stability Out of the City.

There is no great rush of people anxious to put themselves in the places of those other people who were unable to pay the taxes on the lots which the city is offering for sale for arrears of taxes. The same phenomenon was painfully apparent at the tax sales held in previous years. It ought to be clear enough by this time that people are not at all anxious to acquire the privilege of paying the rent that Edmonton collects from the owners of property under the name of taxes. In other words that we have taxed property until it is recognized as being an encumbrance instead of an asset. If Edmonton is to "come back" to a safe financial basis, and to the status of a city of home-owners, the tax burden on the proprietor of property must be lightened.

The Druggists Heard From.

The Provincial Druggists Association have invited the Government to take the duty and privilege of dispensing liquor out of their hands. That rather upsets the current theory that all druggists are boot-leggers or want to be. As a matter of fact the delegation declared that the association members by a vote of more than two to one passed the resolution asking that the Government take over the liquor-dispensing branch of the business. Whatever comes of it, the druggists have done what they could to free themselves of the odium that has been attached to their profession by the actions of certain members of it and the too ready disposition of the public to judge the class by the least worthy individual in it. By an overwhelming majority they declare that they would rather be clear of the business than make the money.

Japan's Viewpoint.

Japan objects to the proposal that it be limited to a navy only sixty per cent. as strong as that of the United States or Great Britain. Outsiders should not rush to the conclusion that Japan is either opposed to the proportionate reduction of armament or that it has predatory designs upon its neighbors of a military kind. An island empire of forty millions of people necessarily has maritime interests vastly greater than a population of the size inhabiting part of a large continent. Japan, like Britain, must trade beyond the sea to live, and no more than Britain can it afford to take chances on having the highways of commerce blockaded against its ships. Prejudice aside, it is entirely understandable that the Japanese should be no more willing than others to trust to the fairness of their competitors and possible enemies, and should desire to have naval strength somewhat more in keeping with that of the other two great maritime powers having interests to protect and promote in the Pacific.

COLLISSON NOT ONLY ONE.

Editor The Bulletin:

Sir,—As delegate from the City of Wetaskiwin to the convention at Calgary of the Union of Alberta Municipalities I was rather surprised to read on the front page of The Bulletin this morning the statement that Alderman Collisson of Edmonton was the only man opposing the resolution to eliminate the school boards and have the schools and their expenditures entirely controlled by the city councils. In fairness to the other delegates along with myself who were opposed to this drastic measure I would be glad if you would correct this mis-statement. From the agreeable manner in which the Wetaskiwin public school board and city council here get together and in a joint meeting of both council and school board revise estimates and study economics thereby having mutual confidence in each other and full understanding between both governing bodies I could not do otherwise than support Alderman Collisson in opposing the doing away of the school boards.

One of the delegates from the southern part of the province in speaking against the passing of the resolution even went so far as to say that in his experience a better class of citizens could be found to serve on school boards than could be found to undertake the duties on the aldermanic board. This may be so in that southern municipality, but in this part of the province all boards are working in the interests of economy with efficiency, so why not leave well alone.

J. E. FRASER, City Clerk.

GEO. BEVINGTON REPLIES

Editor The Bulletin:

Sir,—In reply to a letter appearing in your paper signed by Andrew H. Allen would say that, Mr. Allen before calling me a liar had better make himself acquainted with the facts. He states that I said that bank notes and Dominion notes were not guranteed by gold. This is absolutely untrue. I stated that bank notes were not guaranteed by special deposit of gold or other securities but were credit instruments based upon the general assets of the bank issuing them. Therefore they are guaranteed by gold to whatever extent gold is a part of those assets. I further stated that an order in council was passed in August 1914 suspending gold payment and authorizing the banks to pay their obligations with an issue of their own notes thus putting gold out of use as redemption money in Canada.

In regard to Dominion notes I stated that they were credit instruments based upon all the assets of the Dominion including all the gold that has been mined and all that has not been mined, as well as all the other assets in Canada, either private or public. I challenge Mr. Allen or any other person to disprove these statements. I do not care to enter into a newspaper controversy with Mr. Allen on this matter but have for some time past been speaking publicly on this subject and will continue to do so and will welcome him at any meeting to discuss same.

In the mean time my address is Winterburn and if Mr. Allen wishes to invoke the law to restrain me from speaking on this subject he will find me there, unless engaged in spreading information to a public that is thirsting for truth on this particular subject.

SAYS FARMERS ARE LIMITED.

Editor, The Bulletin:

Sir,—May I beg the courtesy of a little space in your paper I want to emphatically deny the report that is circulated by the opposing parties, namely, that some of our farmers in the East Edmonton U.F.A. Policital Association are not working for us, but the other parties. This, Sir, is absolutely untrue. Continually our members are phoning in to our committee rooms, and personally coming in offering every help in their power. Mr. Harry Bell, Mr. George Wilkinson and several others, old-timers, prominent farmers, are mentioned in this report, which they most strenuously deny. Mr. Harry Bell says: "I am working for Mr. Donald Kellner, our Farmer candidate and no other candidate or party." I may say Mr. Bell is giving us most efficent aid.

Mr. Wilkinson authorizes me to quote his words. "I have it from different sources that I am not in sympathy with the U.F.A. Progressive party, but there is nothing left to do. We have no candidate in either of the other parties that has good government in view, and could not effect legislation that would be of any benefit to the Farmers. The farmers of Alberta, and Canadian in general, have more capital invested than all other industries, and we are interested in the best interests of the government. Therefore, I am working absolutely for our U.F.A. candidate, Mr. Donald F. Kellner."

Our executives and committees are working harmoniously, city and rural help, are offering their services. In one paper it is claimed Mr. Kellner is not getting active support. Mr. Kellner is holding two and three meetings a day in the country, whilst the roads are good, and is received enthusiastically at all meetings.

May I Sir, also beg the space to put in the following letter, received from Mr. Elmer E. Roper, editor of the "Labor News," which we more than appreciate:

Nov. 14th, 1921.

Dear Mr. Kellner.

In common with many other Labor men in Edmonton I was greatly dissappointed when the organizations of the U.F.A. in the three Edmonton constituencies did not come to an agreement, whereby Labor would be granted one of the Edmonton seats, with the endorsation of the farmers. I still feel that an injustice was done to labor in that respect.

The situation as it stands now, however, finds no Labor candidate in East Edmonton, and labor men and other progressives are called upon to make their choice between a Liberal, a Conservative and Independent and a candidate of the U.F.A. To me the choice is not difficult to make, and I take this opportunity of assuring you of my hearty support of your candidature.

I take this stand first because you are the only candidate representing a progressive platform of principles, and second because you are the only candidate backed by a permanent organization pledged to have its principles enforced.

I do not believe in offering passive support alone, and you can depend upon me to do anything in my power to assure your election, with best wishes, I am

Yours sincerely,
ELMER E. ROPER.

I may say, that at our convention, Labor was received most courteously. Two nominees for Labor, were put up, with our Farmer nominees, and a recess was called, for an hour and a half for a Laborer and a Farmer committee, to discuss the situation.

Another point, our East Edmonton U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. Political Association, have never in any shape or form, been approached, or dictated to by Mr. Wood, president of the U.F.A. Our executive is absolutely automatous, subject to the wishes of the members, of our association, at open convention.

Apoligising for taking so much space, and thanking you for the courtesy of publishing this letter,

I remain yours truly,
MABEL DEAN,
Vice-President.
East Edmonton U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. Political Association.

THE "GROUP" SYSTEM

Editor The Bulletin:

Sir—The writer being outside the U. F. A., but deeply interested in current political movements, would like to ask a question respecting an alleged incident connected with a very recent caucus of one of the U. F. A. locals in the East Calgary constituency.

'Tis said that while the caucus was in session a citizen of the district concerned to attend and lend his support to the platform of the Council of Agriculture. When he arrived at the meeting place he was met at the door by an official who notified him that he could not be admitted immediately, but to wait a few minutes in the ante room. This outside guardian then communicated a message to the inside guide, who thereupon assumed an attitude of "attention" and marched forward along the side wall ten steps, thence with a right turn four steps to the centre of the room, from which place with the formal salute he thus addressed the presiding officer:

"Your worthy high paujandrum, a stranger is waiting at the outer door who seeks admission to our exclusive, democratic deliberations, that he may participate in the preliminary work about to be undertaken as a first step in our patriotic and democratic effort to secure control of the Dominion Government. What answer shall he receive?

Then spoke the High Panjandrum and replied:

"The inside guide will return and inquire the stranger's name."

The guide, after a brief absence returned, and assuming the former position in the centre of the room, addressed the Hi pan again in this form:

"The stranger who awaits without is by name John G. Farmer from eight miles west of Dalroy. He is married. A Canadian citizen and over twenty-one years of age"

Upon receiving this information the Hi-pan arose, gave three raps with the plow clevis upon the top of his desk and in impressive and solemn tones announced:

"Having now received information respecting the stranger's name and residence it becomes the next duty of our democratic assembly, in guarding against the danger of admiting a traitor to our worthy cause, or a spy from the enemy lurking in the ranks of a rival group, to send our right supporter, the royal inquisitor to examine the applicant and further determine his qualifications to sit in this august but democratic assembly. The Royal Inquisitor will now retire and prepare a report."

The report of the Royal Inquisitor was full and complete, and because of the bearing it has upon the question I wish to ask, is set out in full.

"Most worthy High Panjandrim, your commission has been performed, and the stranger who waits without has been, by the democratic rules and forms of our democratic society, examined as to his qualifications to enter here. We find him to be a follower of the plow, whose possesions are of moderate volume and of little value. He is a veteran of the World War, twice wounded and once decorated. He is a Canadian citizen and old enough to vote, he has been fully instructed in the democratic nature of our movement, for did we not say it is democratic, and emphatically repeat it. He now understands that the Hon. Duncan Marshall is not a farmer (politically speaking) and, therefore, in a group desiring as a representative one with scientific knowledge of our ancient profession, is ineligible. He is also convinced that the Rev. Bill Idvine is a farmer (politically speaking) and also a labor man, laboring diligently to avoid work. We find aso that although the stranger once joined our organization, whose reg'stered three letter brand is U. F. A., that he has not paid his dues this year to the political division and is reckoned as a delinquent.

Whereupon the presiding officer arose and pronounced this jurgement.

"Our stranger applicant has been duly examined and found ineligible to sit with us in our political deliberations. According to the terms of the Orders-in-Council of those who are our superiors, in such cases, made and provided and guided by the precedent established in West Edmonton, we deem it undemocratic and dangerous to the good government of this country to permit or encourage so poorly qualified individuals to participate in political or governmental affairs; our worthy Recording secretary will, therefore enter upon the records of this meeting as the judgement in this case the three words "Good-bye John"

Now what I want to ask is—To what group does the stranger belong?

What group did he fight for in the war?

And who will represent him if the Rev Bill Irvine is elected to represent the radical near laborer, and misrepresent the trades unions, while marching under a democrtaic banner bearing the campaign slogan "A Government of the People, by the U. F. A. and for the U. F. A.

A COUSIN OF THE STRANGER
Drumheller, November 18th.

Orpheum

A few years ago there wasn't a composer of music or musical comedy who worked as steadily at turning out new melodies as Joseph E. Howard, who is at the Orpheum theatre, commencing with matinee today. He was a part of that aggregation that produced such plays as "Time, Place and Girl," "Prince of Tonight," "Golden Girl" and many others, and Mr. Howard's duty was to supply the music. He made a fortune; in fact, he made many fortunes—says so himself. "Writing music is as simple as the proverbial falling off a log," says Mr. Howard. And he ought to know, for he turned out songs like "Henry Ford does Elizabeths." "There is no trick in it," he says. "Anyone can be a music writer if he has a sense of rhythm. If he cannot play on the piano he can hum the music and all he has to do is to go where there is an Edison of a certain make, or buy him a dictaphone, and presto! the trick is accomplished. He can hum his tune into the machine, and the revolving black record of the tubular kind takes up the music, and later on anyone who can write music can put it on paper. The writer, of course, is not the composer, but like the stenographer, transmits the thought of the author to the paper. "Did I ever?" he answered the query, "I should say I have. In fact, I wrote the whole score to "Time, Place and Girl" just this way. I bought myself a barrel of blank records, a machine, and stole away to a quiet place where I could not be disturbed, and then I began humming to my heart's content. I took the contract to have the score to the lyrics written within two weeks, and in ten days I had finished my job. Then another person wrote the music from my improvision."

New Empire

What the Winnipeg Free Press says about "French Leave," which comes to the New Empire theatre for three days, commencing Thursday, December 1st:

"French Leave" was built to make people laugh, and laugh heartily. That is why the Walker theatre rocked with laughter last night, when a very excellent company presented this wholesome play. One can understand why the "Tommies" wanted to get to "Blighty" on leave, when such great theatrical treats as this were waiting for them in the London amusement houses. It is a good idea to disabuse the mind of the public that "French Leave," while a war play, contains anything of the sordid side of the life "over there."

Little Mrs. Glenister, a bride of a few months, in utter defiance of all military rules, decides to visit a brigade resting out of line, in which her husband, Capt. Harry Glenister, holds rank as brigade-major. Mrs. Glenister threw a wrench into a man-made machine, but it took the combined fascinations of "Mlle. Juliette," the quick thinking of Corp. Sykes and the gruff sympathy of Brigadier-General Archibald Root, C.B., to bring the machine to a halt just a second this side of the "crash."

And even then it is to be doubted that the crash could be avoided if destiny, in theg uise of a serious illness which befell the divisional commander, had not put General Root temporarily in command with power to send Mrs. Glenister back to Paris "under military escort," efficient enough to keep that young lady in order, namely, under escort of her husband.

This, briefly, is the plot, the comedy that held the Walker in laughter for two hours last night and which has a fine cast including Madge Surtees, Walter Edwin, Jack Murtagh, Genevieve Bartilacci, Charles Romano, Wm. Deane and John Skinner.

Every member of the cast has a fat bit, and a chance to bring the audience to their feet, to sweep it with gales of laughter. Harry J. Sykes as the mess corporal, William Dean as the mess waiter and John Skinner as the French interpreter, were good types and had their share of applause for the representations they gave of the army men, true to life and natural. Jack Murtagh, the husband, had a very difficult task because he was the butt of the mess, owing to the predicament his wife got him into. He came through successfully. Charles Romano, as the young staff captain, in love with the wife who was masquerading as a French actress, acted with spirit. But, of course, in the main the comedy centred around Walter Edwin as the General and Madge Surtees as the wife. The General was so true to life so genuine in all his actions, that his appearance alone set the house on tip-toe of expectation. He has a fine soldierly bearing, a well-toned voice, and he acted and spoke his lines as if he were at the front and not appearing before an audience to win applause. Miss Surtees was vivacious and pleading in turn, woman's best weapon—tears—flowing quite naturally, and it had the desired effect on the hard-boiled general.

This play carries a message of good cheer. The comedy is high-spirited and never lags, and the house rippled with merriment. There are no guns, no flag-flapping, no melodramatics, but after all it is army life as it was lived in the British ranks. The complications were unravelled all too soon last night and the crowd was sorry when the curtain went down for the finale. Many recalls were given the company.

Temple

Fate plays some funny pranks with people. A few of these peculiarities are strikingly brought out in "Pals First," being played all this week at the Temple theatre by the Temple Players. Fate makes one man rich, but fastens on him a crime that makes him an outcast from home and friends, and he adopts the modes of life and characteristics of a tramp. To another she allots the role of a common tramp. Then she brings these two together in a manner that makes them life-long pals. They wander the face of the earth and then another turn of the wheel brings them back to the old home again. Complications follow. The plot of the play revolves around the doings of the "Pals," creating many tense and interesting situations, yet throughout the whole play runs a vein of humor, so characteristic of the productions presented by the Temple Players. "Pals First," one of the recent releases for stock production, is a strong play, one of gripping interest and mystery, one that holds the audience till the last drop of the curtain. Such a play, produced as only plays have been produced in Edmonton by the Temple Players, should prove the big attraction for this week.

Allen

If anyone is in doubt about the costume play as an excellent form of motion picture entertainment, he should see Douglas Fairbanks' picture version of Alexandre Dumas' classics story, "The Three Musketeers," which opens at popular prices today at the Allen for a week's run.

Featuring the costumes of the early seventeenth century, this film stands as one of the most impressive and gorgeous photoplays of motion picture history. It is thrilling, romantic, crammed full of red-blooded adventure, and reveals Douglas Fairbanks in a type of work which is in some respects typical of past performances, but on the whole differs from any other interpretation he has ever given us.

In the role of D'Artagnan, the dashing swordsman who intercepted one of the foulest intrigues ever attempted by Cardinal Richelieu, of France, "Doug" is called upon for a greater display of histrionic ability than in anything he has donce since leaving anything he has done since leaving the speaking stage for pictures.

He has ben given an ideal adaptation of the story by Edward Knoblock, noted dramatist, and Fred Niblo as director has developed every situation in a way that enabled Fairbanks to make the most of it.

From the standpoint of photography, "The Three Musketeers" is one of the most beautiful pictures ever made. Arthur Edeson, the cameraman, has done much to contribute to the success of the photoplay.

Rialto

From the tremendous situations created in the history of the Maine lumber camps, the environment and the material given, Holman Day made his splendid tale of the woods, "The Rider of the King Log," which opens a three-day engagement at the Rialto theatre today.

Thousands of people who go to Maine to revel in the scenic beauty of its mountains, lakes and rivers, never realise that these same are the arteries of Maine's commerce in lumber and pulp. Maine's vast regions of forests contain thousands of lumbering camps, densely populated in the winter but deserted in the summer, and along the rivers in the spring of the year the activities of the "drive" transforms streams that were placid in summer into roaring, living masses of men and logs.

The old lumber kings, with their code of honor as to forest preservation, are passing, and in their place are corporations, stripping the hills and valleys and leaving the task of re-forestation to the government.

The first invasion of the pulp interests brought keen resentment from the old lumber kings. There were bloody battles over leases, river fights for water, brutal personal assaults and destruction of valuable property.

It is among those scenes that "The Rider of the King Log" is laid, and the result is a drama of adventure and romance that will never be forgotten by virtue of its virility and beauty.

Empress

Ivan Linow, the two hundred and thirty-pound wrestler who has an important role with Thomas Meighan in "Cappy Ricks," a Paramount picture, which comes to the Empress today, is strenuous. One of the last scenes in "Cappy Ricks" revealed Linow standing on the stern of a tug boat tossing a rope to a storm-tossed vessel in the offing. It was imposible to take the close-ups at sea where the remainder of the storm scenes were shot, and a set was built for this episode in the Paramount eastern studio.

The stern of the tug was set in a tank of water twelve feet deep, and with a sprinkler system pouring its rain upon him and the wind from a giant propeller blowing him about, Linow stood ready to throw the rope. At the given word from Tom Forman, the director, he heaved the rope above his head, but his aim was bad.

The knotted end of the heavy line struck a spotlight operator who tumbled off his perch. Linow, also, came to grief. In throwing the rope he lost his balance and toppled over in the tank, from which he was fished sputtering much water and Russian profanity.

Regent

The charming little flapper star, Gladys Walton, comes to the Regent theatre today in a brand new Universal comedy-drama, "High Heels."

"High Heels" is a delightful story of a girl who was too rich. She couldn't adjust herself to the world in general. She couldn't tolerate her brothers—nor even her father, whose money bought her position. She was just a spoiled little society debutante.

Then came the crash. Money, position, power and sham friends all disappeared. From a flapper it changed her into Christine, the woman, who understood.

Opposite the star is Frederick Vogeding, the husband of Florence Roberts, who gives an excellent portrayal as the young doctor. William Worthington, the distinguished director and actor, handles the role of the grouchy old man next door with the finesse of the polished actor. Others in a notable cast are Freeman Wood, George Hackathorn, the Debraic twins, Milton Markwell, Dwight Crittendon Robert Dunbar, Olo Norman, Leigh Wyant, Jean Debraic and Hugh Saxon.

Lee Kohlmar's direction has added materially to the artistry of the production and Wallace Clifton shs furnished an excellent scenario from Louise B. Clancy's novel "Christine of the Young Heart."

Monarch

Hugo Ballin's screen revival of "East Lynne," which will be seen here at the Monarch theatre commencing today, tempts theatre-goers to interrogate stage historians and browse through old playbills and records. For Mrs. Henry Wood's melodrama has too long been a literary and theatrical tradition not to have had an interesting history.

A play in which ladies have revelled lachrymally not for years, but for generations, not only in the language of the original, but in virtually every tongue—such a creation must necessarily have enlisted the talents of many artists and must at the same time have been witnessed under unusual circumstances.

Mabel Ballin, wife of the mural painter now lending his talents to the films, plays the heroine whose problems, while old, are forever new. The part is associated with the memory of a dozen famous actresses, whose achievements are part of the history of the stage of America. The play was first performed in London in 1862 and in New York a year later. Matilda Heron, Lucille Western, Ada Gray, Clara Morris, Adelaide Cushman and Nance O'Neil are only a few of the favorite actresses of the last generation who were closely identified with "East Lynne."

Metropolitan

Earle Williams, star and director of "Bring Him In," which will be shown at the Metropolitan theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday, thinks he will set up as a harness maker for a side line.

While making scenes for "Bring Him In" Mr. Williams was forced to mend his saddle with the instruments in a medical kit used in the story. Of course he jabbed the needle into his fingers several times, and for days they were sore. But the star succeeded in mending the harness and saddle in a manner that would be a credit to a harness maker. He of his work that he showed it to everyone on location and even provided a closeup in the picture.

While the star feels confident that he would not like to make harnesses for a living, he feels that with a little practice he would be able to mend one with surgical instruments and not injure his hands.

The story of "Bring Him In" deals with the Royal Canadian mounted police, who are in search of a man. The hunted man is played by the star, and he shows the sergeant who is out, charged with his capture, how a fugitive may turn the tables upon his captor and bring him in himself.

THOMAS MEIGHAN in "Cappy Ricks," at the Empress today, Tuesday and Wednesday. Added attraction, Coster and Clements.

Who May Vote on December Sixth

QUALIFICATION OF ELECTORS—General

Every person, male or female, shall be qualified to vote, who—

(a) Is a British subject by birth or naturalization, and

(b) Is of the full age of twenty-one years, and

(c) Has resided in Canada for at least twelve months, and in the constituency for at least two months immediately prior to the issue of the Writ of Election.

Indians who served in the late war, whether resident on a reserve or not, are entitled to vote, as are also all Indians not resident on a reserve.

A man born in Canada of foreign-born parents is a British subject by birth.

NATURALIZATION—Foreign-Born Men

Foreign-born naturalized men cousist of two classes:

(a) Those personally naturalized by application and certificate.

(b) Those whose fathers were personally naturalized by application and certificate while they were minors under the age of twenty-one years.

NATURALIZATION—Foreign-Born Women

(a). A British-born woman, single or married to a British subject, is a British subject and entitled to vote.

(b) A British-born woman married to an unnaturalized alien is an alien and not entitled to vote.

(c) A foreign-born woman personally naturalized and single is a British subject and entitled to vote.

(d) A woman born in Canada of foreign-born parents is a natural born British subject and is entitled to vote.

(e) A foreign-born woman married to a British subject is a British subjeet, and if she has been personally naturalized, or if she was born on the North American continent, or if she was entitled to vote prior to the passing of the Dominion Elections Act, 1920, or if she was naturalized through the naturalization of her father while she was a minor, she may vote without having a Voting Certificate.

(f) A foreign-born woman born elsewhere than on the North American continent, and who has been a resident of Canada for five years, and who is a British subject simply because she is married to a British subject, must procure a Voting Certificate in order to vote.

This Certificate may be obtained by appearing personally before a judge and satisfying him that she is twenty-one years of age, has a knowledge of French or English, is of good moral character, and has been a resident of Canada for five years.

In Edmonton and Calgary, judges of the Supreme or District Court are present at the Court House on almost every day of the week, and applicants should call at the Court House and arrange with the clerk for an appointment with a judge. Outside these cities a District Court judge can be found, when not on circuit, at the town where the Court House for the Judicial District is located.

District Court, upon which the judge attends, is held at several points in the judicial district on specified dates, and one of these points might be nearer than the court centre. Information as to the dates and places of such court sittings can be obtained from the court officials. Notice of intention to appear should be given where possible. No fee is charged and the Voting Certificate once granted is good for future elections.

RURAL POLLS AND URBAN POLLS

An urban poll is one contained in a city or town of twenty-five hundred people or more. All other polls are rural.

RURAL LISTS

Rural lists are to be posted up in conspicuous places, on the day before nomination. The rural registrar sits for specified hours on the five days following nomination for the purpose of adding on or taking off names.

A rural poll elector whose name is not on the list may nevertheless vote if on election day he swears and brings a neighbor whose name is on the list who swears that such elector is entitled to vote.

URBAN LISTS

If a person's name is not on the list as posted, it may be added during the period of which notice is given for the revision of the list, BUT THE LIST AS IT STANDS AT THE CONCLUSION OF THE REVISION IS FINAL and in urban polls there is no provision for swearing in votes of persons whose names are not on the list.

Monday, November 21st, is the last day of revision of the West Edmonton lists. A. C. Grant, of Macdonald & Grant, barristers, Agency Building, is revising officer for West Edmonton.

West Unites in Wishing Eskimos Success in the East

Cities which lost out in the playoff for Western Canada rugby honors agree with Edmonton that the West will be worthily represented in the game for national honors.—Athletic associations wish Eskimos best of success at Toronto.

Western Cities Send Messages of Cheer to Eskimo Team on Eve of Departure After Championship

Edmonton Athletic Organizations Unite to Wish Coach White and His Squad Best Success and Good Luck Before They Depart for Toronto After National Honors—West Confident of Victory—Saskatoon and Calgary Sportsmen Believe Eskimos Are Worthy Representatives of West

All Western Canada unites with the citizens of Edmonton in wishing the Eskimos God-speed and the best success. From Calgary, Saskatoon, Regina and Winnipeg come expression of support for the Edmonton team in their quest of national honors. Saskatoon thinks the Eskimos have a grand chance of beating the Easterners. Calgary believes Deacon White's squad is good enough to turn the trick. Regina never having seen them, nevertheless thinks they are a good team and wishes them success, while Winnipeg feels that the West will be worthily repreented in the Dominion playoff.

Citizens of Edmonton are as one in their expression of congratulations for the Eskimo achievements in the West and of best wishes for success at Toronto. In believing that their team can whip the Eastern champions, Edmonton people believe they are not under-rating the ability of the team that wins out to the final in Toronto. Equally do they believe they are not over-rating their own team.

Athletic clubs and associations in Edmonton are generous with their best wishes towards the Eskimos. The players can feel that they carry with them the support of every athletic organisation in the city, as well as every individual who takes the least interest in sport.

Varsity Rugby Club

We surely wish them the best success. May they bring back the bacon. We KNOW they are a real rugby team.—Jack McAllister, Captain University of Alberta rugby team.

Edmonton Football Association

The Edmonton City and District Football Association extend to the Eskimos hearty congratulations on their achievements this season and best wishes on their eastern trip after National honors. We shall await with keen anticipation news of their success.—C. M. Small and Bob Stevenson, for the Edmonton City and District Football association.

Eskimo Hockey Club

"We're pulling for the Eskimos every minute they are away. We look for them to give the east a surprise. Our best wishes are with them and we shall await the news of a victory with confidence.—Eskimo hockey club, per Kennie McKenzie.

Telegram from the Duke Keats at Regina:— "I'm so strong for the Esks that I would go right down east to see the game if I didn't have to be in Edmonton for hockey practice in a few days.—Duke.

Eskimos will take with them tha "You bet you my life. we're for them. They're a great little old crew and they reserve the best wishes of evryon around this neck in the woods —Joe Driscoll, for E. A. H. A.

British Rugby Union

Eskimos will take with them the best wishes for success of all players and followers of British rugby.—Alberta British Rugby union.

Agoes Rugby Club

Along the line the signal goes,
Edmonton 's sure her Eskimos
That they will do their duty.

The best of luck and all hopes of success.—Alberta Government Telephones Rugby club.

Welsh Rugby Club

Resolution passed at general meeting of club: That this general meeting of the Edmonton Welsh rugby F. C. heartily congratulates the Eskimos on their recent success in winning the western Canada championship and wish them every success in their effort to bring further laurels to our city, ie. the Dominion championship.—Edmonton Welsh Rugby club.

Edmonton British Rugby Club

The Edmonton British Rugby club wishes to express through the Bulletin their hearty congratulations to the Eskimo in becoming champions of Western Canada for 1921 and further wish to place on record the best wishes of this club to the Eskimo team and its able coach for a very successful trip east and a victorious return.

Alberta Amateur Hockey Assn.

"This association has every confidence in Coach White and his team. We wish them all success.—Frank Drayton for A. A. H. A.

Strathcona Millionaires

"If we ever become to play as good hockey as the Eskimo play rugby, we'll be satisfied. We certainly hope they bring home the championship and wish them the best of luck. They are good enough to win anyway.—Strathcona Millionaires.

Edmonton Ski Club

The Edmonton Ski Club offers its hearty congratulations to the Eskimos on their success in Western Canada and wish Coach White and the players to know that the members of this club wish them every success in eastern Canada.—Edmonton Ski club.

CALGARY SENDS MESSAGE

(By Harry Scott)

CALGARY, November 18.—When the Edmonton Eskimos travel to Toronto in quest of the Dominion football championship they will have the whole-hearted wishes of every sportsman in Calgary.

Nothing would please Calgarians better than to see Deacon White's wonderful rugby squad cop the silverware in the east. Calgary realizes that the Eskimos are a credit not only to Edmonton and Alberta but to the entire west; they beat the best teams in western Canada and trimmed them so decisively that they are worthy of representing this part of the vast domain.

Calgary would like to have the same honor that Edmonton will have in supporting such a grand aggregation of supermen. Not only will the Eskimos advertise Edmonton, but they will bring fame to Alberta and the west.

All Are Agreed

Every one of the leading athletic leaders interviewed this afternoon were of the same voice, "Here's hoping that the Eskimos cop the championship"; this included such well-known sportsmen as E. L. Richardson, president of the Western Canada Hockey League; Chief Ritchie, president of the Alberta Amateur Athletic Union; S. P. Barth, secretary of the Amateur Hockey association; Lloyd Turner, business manager of the Calgary Bronks and the Arena rink; Joe Price, who has been a leading figure in Calgary rugby for years; E. D. Battrum, secretary of the A.A.A.U. and others.

If everybody in Edmonton will pull as hard for the Eskimos as the sportsmen of Calgary, then they should go a long way towards attaining their aspirations.

Personally, I believe that Deacon White's athletes will make a grand showing. They all possess that necessary grit and determination and the old fighting spirit, and with the speed that is tied up with the squad they ought to prove a revelation to the easterners.

Go to it, Eskimos, and keep in mind that Calgarians to a man are with you. May you buck 'em for yards at will and run up another 72 to 2 score.

SASKATOON OPTIMISTIC

(By Ross Cameron)

SASKATOON, Nov. 18.—Saskatoon joins with other western centres in wishing the Edmonton Eskimos the best of luck in their effort to land Dominion rugby honors when they make their trip to Toronto. When the team went to Winnipeg they were welcomed here by a number of the most prominent members of the local rugby circles, and they left with the best wishes of Saskatoon. Through the success of the locals in landing the championship of the S.R.F.W., interest in football has greatly increased and the progress of the Eskimos in the Dominion finals will be watched with great interest. Their efforts to raise funds to go to Toronto have been viewed with sympathy here, and now that their financial difficulties are over Saskatoon will cheer for Edmonton in their game in the east.

Sportsmen Speak

"I sincerely hope," said Hub Bishop, president of the S.R.F.U., "that the Eskimos are successful in their attempt to land Dominion honors. It will mean a great deal for Edmonton in particular, but it will be even a greater tribute to western football."

"The Esks have my best wishes," Mr. Justice Donald MacLean, for many years president of the Saskatoon City club, S.R.F.U. champions. "Best wishes to Edmonton. May they show the east that football as played in the west is as good if not better than that played in the eastern unions."

Professor Hardy, of the University of Saskatchewan, and secretary of the Western Canada R.F.U., said last night: "The 'Varsity team will watch with interest the trip of the Eskimos east. Our best wishes go with them. We hope they win. Good luck, Edmonton!"

POULIN COMES TO EDMONTON FOR STANLEY

Dutton Signs with Rovers—Calgary Seeks Stanley's Signature Today

CALGARY, Nov. 20.—Mervin Dutton, star defence player of the Calgary Canadians last winter, and who has been allotted to the Pacific Coast league, has been permitted to remain in Calgary this winter. He signed on Saturday to play for Calgary Rovers. Manager Eddie Poulin is going to Edmonton, Monday, to sign Barney Stanley to complete the roster of the team.

Poulin's visit to Edmonton will be somewhat interesting in view of the fact that Stanley has definitely stated that he will play with an Edmonton team or not at all. A settlement in the case of Stanley should be reached as the result of the Calgary promoter's visit.—Editor's note.

BRITISH TEAM WINS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—British swordsmen defeated the United States fencing team 8 to 6 Saturday night in their Epee bout, the second of three matches in their tournament for the Thompson trophy. The first match was won by the United States Friday night, and the third and final bout with the same sabre will be held in New York, Monday night.

Regina Enters the League

President Richardson Accepts Application

CALGARY, Nov. 19.—Regina will enter the Western Canada Professional Hockey league this winter. This was confirmed by President E. L. Richardson tonight. The application of the Regina franchise from West Champ has been accepted. Another application was received from William George McKay of Regina. President Richardson will leave for Regina next Friday to talk over league matters with Mr. Champ, and also make a definite decision regarding player George Hay, who is claimed by both Regina and Saskatoon. Moose Jaw failed to apply for a berth and they are now out of the question.

HARVARD BEATS YALE BY SCORE OF TEN TO THREE

Fifty-five Thousand People Attend—Iowa Leads Western Conference

CAMBRIDGE Mass. Nov. 20.—Harvard spirit and Harvard system won the annual Yale-Harvard game yesterday 10 to 3. It was a last period victory in which a touchdown by Owen a goal kick from it by Buelle, and a goal from the field by Owen rolled up points for the Crimson against three gained by Yale through Captain Aldrich's field goal in the first period.

The Harvard win was generally unexpected, coming as it did at the close of a season of uncertainty for the crimson eleven and of previously unbroken success by Yale. It threw into a triple tie for the first time in history the standing among the Big Three Princeton defeated Harvard, Yale defeated Princeton; now Harvard has defeated Yale.

A Huge Crowd

This fortieth Yale-Harvard game was played in the stadium before a crowd of 55,000. Yale, a heavier and harder hitting eleven gave its all in the first three periods. Then Harvard changed tactics, assumed the offensive and won.

Other game resulted as follows:

Lafayette 28, Lehigh 6.
Fordham 14, Springfield 0.
University of New York 7, Trinity College of N.C. 7.
Syracuse 14, Dartmouth 17.
Williams 40, Wesleyan 0.
Rutgers 17 West Virginia 7.
Brown 7 Colgate 0.
Carnegie Tech 21 Maryland 0.
John Hopkins 17, St. John's 3.

Western Conference

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The western conference football season closed yesterday with the University of Iowa, the undisputed champion for the first time in twenty years.

The upshot through which Illinois beat Ohio state 7 to 0, combined with Iowa's 14 to 0 victory over Northwestern, left Hawkeyes at the top of the percentuge table and avoided what had appeared to be a certain tie between Ohio state and Iowa for the title. Ohio state and Chicago tied for second place and Wisconsin was fourth.

	W.	L.	T.
Iowa	5	0	0
Ohio State	4	1	0
Chicago	4	1	0
Wisconsin	3	1	1
Michigan	2	1	1
Indiana	1	2	0
Minnesota	2	4	0
Perdue	1	4	0
Illinois	1	4	0
N'Western	0	5	0

Iowa appears to have a clear title to the middle west championship as she defeated Notre Dame the leading middlewestern team outside of the Big Ten. This year Notre Dame defeated Nebraska and also the Army.

Other western scores:

Nebraska 35, Ames 2.
Michigan 38, Minnesota 0.
Wisconsin 0, Chicago 3.

Fumbles Played Large Part in Score

ARGOS SCORED ELEVEN POINTS IN FIRST QUARTER; VARSITY HAD BETTER OF OTHER THREE

Conacher and Batstone Were Star Backfield Men of the Argo Team Both Making Large Gains—Varsity Backfield Men Were Inexperienced, It Being Their First Year in Senior Rugby—Play Was of Championship Class

TORONTO, Nov. 20 (Canadian Press).—Piling up a lead of eleven points in the first period, when they took advantage of the wind, 'Varsity backfield errors and the breaks of the game, the Argonauts, champions of the Inter-Provincial Union, defeated 'Varsity, winner in the Intercollegiate circuit by a score of 20 to 12, at 'Varsity Stadium, on Saturday afternoon, before some 15,000 spectators.

The contest was a good exhibition of the fall pastime, despite the unfavorable weather conditions. By winning this game the scullers lengthened their string of successive victories this season to seven and progressed into the next round of the Canadian championship series.

The exhibition was well up to the standard of championship rugby, and even if there were some fumbles—and the few that there were played a big part in the scoring—there were not as many as could be expected considering the slippery nature of the ball.

Not Much Difference

'There was not a great difference between the two teams. The winners were outscored 9-12 in the final three periods. The greatest difference lay between the two back divisions. At the last moment Coach Maynard sent Harry Hobbs to quarter back and replaced him with Patterson, leaving Snyder, the only backfield player of the students who had had senior experience before this year. Pa[illegible]son was injured during the game and replaced by Ketchum, and while both acquitted themselves well they lacked experience. Hobbs at quarter strengthened the 'Varsity attack and Snyder played a great game even if he did make one costly fumble which resulted in a touch. Somerville kicked well at times, but fumbled badly on several occasions. 'Varsity backs, however, did not show the teamwork of the scullers.

Both Batstone and Conacher appeared little hampered by footing. While Conacher's play was perhaps the more spectacular of the two, he had nothing more in all-round effectiveness than Batstone. Conacher made a number of long and useful gains, but generally it was Batstone who generalled the way.

'Varsity can say with considerable pride that they are the only team this season that has prevented Conacher from crossing their line.

First Quarter

Argos won the toss and took advantage of the wind. Snyder kicked off to Batstone who returned, the ball rolling into touch at Varsity 45 yard line. On second down Snyder and Duncan went around the right end for twenty yards. Sommerville kicked to Conacher, who was downed 25 yards outside. Conacher kicked to Sommerville who passed to Snyder. The latter fumbled but recovered forty yards out. Snyder kicked to Batstone. The latter ran it back and passed to Conacher who was downed 45 yards from Varsity line. On second down Conacher kicked to Snyder behind the line and the Varsity man ran it out five yards. Sommerville kicked high but the ball rolled back until Romerill fell on it on the Varsity ten yard line. On the second down Batstone went through the line for a try, when Varsity thought the play was going round the left end. It was a nicely played fake.

Argos 5; Varsity 0.

Snyder kicked to Batstone who returned into touch at centre field. Snyder again kicked to Batstone who returned over the Varsity backs' heads. Sommerville was tackled just as he touched the ball and Fear dribbled over for a try, which Batstone converted.

Argos 11; Varsity 0.

Quarter time came with Varsity in possession twenty yards in front of Argos goal. Quarter time: Argos 11; Varsity 0.

Second Quarter

On the first down Hobbs tried an on-side kick which Conacher was forced to rouge. McCormick and Romerill made five yards. Conacher kicked a low one to Snyder who made a pretty running catch and returned past Conacher, who was forced to rouge.

Neither side had shown any superfifty yard gain with three tacklers stone went around left and then passed to Conacher, who completed a fifty yard gain with one three tacklers hanging on. Batstone kicked to deadline for a point. Argos 12; Varsity 2.

Conacher was injured and replaced by F. Sullivan. Pugh made seven yards. Snyder was tackled on Argos 30 yard line. A safety touch was counted when Cochrane slid across the goal line when saving a try. Half time ended with play in the centre of the field

Argos 12; Varsity 4.

Third Period:

Conacher returned to the game. Argos were penalized for off-side, putting the ball in play at their 30 yard line. No gain was made on an exchange of kicks between Conacher and Sommerville.

Batstone made 15 yards. Paterson was hurt and Ketchum came on. Batstone kicked to Snyder, who slipped on his own 25 yards line.

Batstone was downed at centre field by Prandergast after a pretty catch of Sommerville's kick. Varsity broke through on two downs. Batstone kicked to dead-line.

Argos 13; Varsity 4.

Argos gained ten yards on an exchange of kicks. Varsity smothered two Argos plays. Sommerville dodged five tacklers in a fifteen yard gain on Conacher's kick. Sommerville kicked to Conacher who returned and when Snyder dropped the ball on a running catch, McCormick dropped on the ball for a try which Batstone converted.

Argos 19; Varsty 4.

Fourth Period:

Varsity tried an on-side kick and Sommerville grabbing the ball was downed on Argos eight yard line. On the third down Reilly just plunged over the line. Hobbs converted.

Argos 19; Varsity 10.

Snyder returned Batstone's kick and the latter was thrown back for a safety touch.

Argos 19; Varsity 12.

Batstone was injured but responded to treatment. Conacher made 12 around right end. Conacher kicked to Sommerville, who had to rouge.

Full Time: Argos 20; Varsity 12.

TRAVELLERS PLAN CHRISTMAS TREES FOR THE KIDDIES

For some years past it has been customary for Edmonton Council to provide Christmas trees and gifts for the dependent children at the several homes in the city and this year will be no exception as Councillor Charlie Wallace is convener of a committee in charge of this work and able assistance will be rendered by councillors: Bert. Brown, Fred Jenkins, Les Beatty, Tracey, Charlie Clint, Bill Free, W. A. Halliday, Leo Wood and Bruce Flavin. Senior Councillor Rymer is deeply interested in this work as well as many others in the organisation, who will be only too pleased to have the opportunity of taking an active part in something that will bring so much happiness to the little folks.

Free Football Competition

One Prize only---$50

WEEK ENDING NOVEMBER 26th

Rules for Bulletin Football Competition

1. This competition is for the purpose of disbursing the $300.00 left over from the last week of the football competition of the 1920-21 season.
2. The competition is free and is open to readers of The Bulletin. Each competitor will be allowed to enter four coupons only each week.
3. The prizes will be disbursed at the rate of $50.00 per week until the total amount has been exhausted.
4. Coupons must be received in The Bulletin office not later than 9 p.m. on Friday of each week. Coupons will positively not be accepted after that time.
5. In marking coupons competitors will strike out the losing club. In the case of a draw both clubs must be struck out.
6. The result of each week's competition will be published every Wednesday in The Bulletin, as far as possible, and cheques to winners forwarded during the same week.
7. In any and every case of dispute, the decision of the editor of The Bulletin shall be final.
8. The coupons must be enclosed in envelopes, and addressed to The Editor, Football Competition, Bulletin, Edmonton. They may be mailed, or dropped in the box which is situated in The Bulletin business office.
9. The prize of $50.00 will be a single prize. Where two or more competitors tie for first place, the prize will be divided equally among them.

ENTRY COUPON

I agree to abide by the rules of the competition and accept the decision of The Bulletin management in all matters pertaining to this competition.

G. T. Employees Are Urged to Aid In Getting Business

Tornto, Nov. 19.—In a circular which is being distributed to every employee of the system, Howard Kelly, president of the Grand Trunk railway system, is advocating the creation of an enormous oranization for the solicitation of freight and passenger business for the railway. He suggests that every employee, through his family and friends, can become an active agent for the bringing of new business to the system.

ALEX. STUART K.C. HAS RETIRED IN EAST EDMONTON

Three Candidates Are Now In The Field For The Federal Contest

Alex Stuart, K.C., who entered the field two weeks ago as Liberal candidate in East Edmonton has withdrawn according to an announcement which he handed out Saturday morning. Mr. Stuart's letter is as follows:

"At the request of responsible men whom I could not ignore, and of active political workers in East and West Edmonton, I have withdrawn from the election contest. I did not seek the nomination of a Liberal convention because I did not want the resposibility, financial and otherwise, which such a request would impose, but urgetly advised some one else to accept it.

"I proposed to avail myself of the failure of two conventions and a special committee to find a candidate suitable to them for East Edmonton, which was the state of political affairs when I issued my manifesto, in order to advocate greater Canadianism. If a later convention had chosen to endorse me, it would have been acceptable.

"I shall seek other opportunities, not so good as that of a general election, to advocate an advance in nationhood to a degree that will give a Canadian the same status under the crown as that of his brethern in the British Isles. Besides supporting the policy of the Liberal party I desired only the opportunity to draw to the attention of the public the fact that the Canadian parliament has not the power to amend when necessary the constitution of our government, or to deal directly with foreign countries on our own international affairs, or to send representatives to foreign capitals, particularly to the capital of our nearest neighbors, and that the British government, not simply the sovereign but the representatives of the British people, has still the right to veto legislation of the Canadian parliament, and that in many other ways we are not yet a self governing people under the British crown, exemplified today by the fact that it is not the Canadian government which sends Sir Robert Borden to the Washington conference. I hope to have other opportunities to express these views."

There are now three candidates in the field; Joseph A. Clarke, Liberal-Labor; H. A. Mackie, Conservative, and D. F. Kellner, Farmer.

FRESH EGGS ARE 80C PER DOZEN ON CITY MARKET

Cold Weather Saturday Accounts For The Small Supply Of Produce

Fresh eggs on the city market Saturday morning sold at from 75 cents to 80 cents per dozen and with only a limited supply the demand at these prices was fairly brisk. Eggs that were not classed as strictly fresh sold at from 45 cents to 65 cents per dozen, the majority of the sales by farmers being at 65 cents. Owing to the cold weather the supply of all lines of farm produce was considerably lighter than usual and prices were slightly higher than last week.

Dairy butter which was offered in somewhat limited quantities was sold at from 45 cents to 50 cents per pound and at these prices was in fairly good demand. In the meat line fairly large quantities of dressed pork was offered at 13 cents per pound. Dressed chickens were sold at 25 cents and ducks at 30 cents per pound.

The offering of vegetables was very light, but the demand for most lines was fairly good. Cabbage was selling at 3 cents per pound, turnips 2 cents parsnips 5 cents, carrots 3 cents and beets 3 cents per pound. Celery in fairly good demand at two bunches for 25 cents. Potatoes were offered at 50 cents per bushel in small lots, but the demand was only fair.

FARMERS HOLD MEETING AT STONY PLAIN

Wm. Bristow Speaks Ably On Behalf of Hon. Frank Oliver

The Stony Plain Sun has the following report of the political meeting there last Tuesday evening:

Ducholke's hall was well filled Tuesday night, when D. M. Kennedy, the Progressive candidate, made his appeal to the electors of Stony Plain district.

Moody Washburn was in the chair, and with him on the platform were the candidate, and Mr. Wm. Bristow, representing the Liberal party.

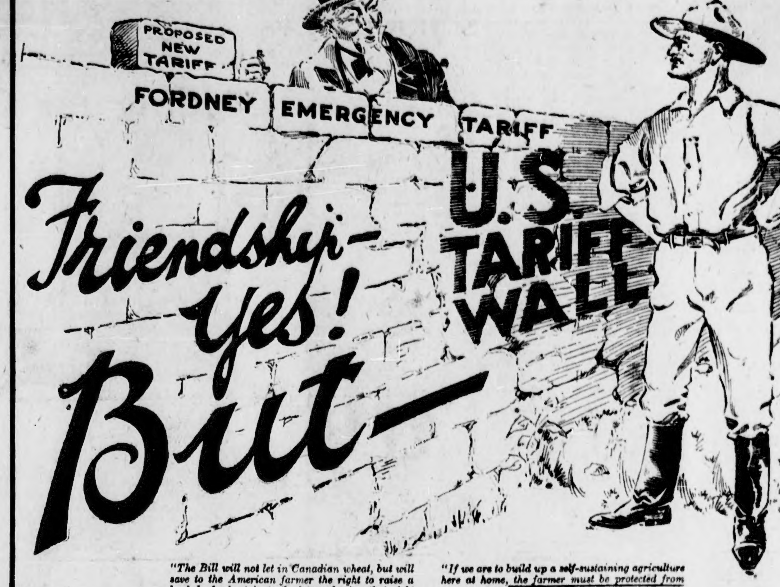
Mr. Kennedy is from the North country; is a well-to-do successful farmer, and looks the part.

Mr. Kennedy condemned a number of things which had been done by each of the great political parties while in power; notably the duplication of transcontinental lines of railway, in supporting which the producer in the West suffers greatly, both from excessive freight rates and meeting the deficit of a hundred million dollars annually.

Mr. Kennedy is in favor of the establishing of a Board similar to the Wheat Board, recently defunct, which would seek to stabilise the price of farmer's products by "keeping its fingers on the markets of the world."

Mr. Kennedy affirmed his belief that agriculture was the basic industry of this country, and stated his readiness to help any movement whereby the agriculturist could have every tax on his implements removed.

Mr. Bristow's thirty-minute speech was chockful of references to Canadian political history; the National Policy; tariff for revenue; Protection doctrine; the need of the two transcontinental railways and the object for which they were built; the eras of prosperity which always strike Canada following the accession of the Liberal Party to power at the Federal Capital; the great work which the Laurier Government did in revising the tariff, by raising the tax on such luxuries as diamonds and silks and lowering the tax on the necessities of the poor. He also touched on the able administration Hon. Frank Oliver gave as Minister of Interior, giving every aid to pioneer framers in the North, and throwing open for settlement the odd sections in every township, which previously had been reserved for the railways. Bill is some hum-dinger when he gets agoin', and he sure had the goods with him Tuesday evening.



"The Bill will not let in Canadian wheat, but will save to the American farmer the right to raise a bushel of wheat instead of transferring that right to Canada"—Mr. Fordney, in introducing the Fordney Emergency Tariff Bill which has shut millions of dollars worth of Canadian foodstuffs out of the United States market.

"If we are to build up a self-sustaining agriculture here at home, the farmer must be protected from unfair competition from those countries where agriculture is still being exploited."—President Harding. The very spot chosen to deliver this speech—Minnesota—shows that Harding had the Canadian North-West in mind.

WHILE ties of friendship unite Canada and the United States, the attitude of Uncle Sam is that of "Business First", and Canada cannot and should not hope for any consideration from the United States where the interests of the farmers and business people of that country are involved.

Uncle Sam has built the Fordney Tariff directly against Canadian agriculture, and new additional Tariff proposals are now under consideration to shut out from the United States Canadian goods of every kind.

These measures are due to the insistence of the American farmer that the United States market shall be retained exclusively for him and that the influx of Canadian farm products into that country must cease. They are also due to a like insistence of United States manufacturers and workers, who have seen their country develop tremendously and grow rich under a Protective Tariff, and who believe that a still further increase in Tariff is the only means of assuring continued prosperity.

CONTRAST THE ATTITUDE OF THE UNITED STATES LEADERS WITH THAT OF CANADA'S WOULD-BE LEADERS, CRERAR AND KING

Crerar proposes to allow American goods to enter the Canadian market free of duty.

King proposes that the present reasonable Tariff on the products of the American factory and farm shall be greatly reduced, and that the home market of the Canadian farmer and manufacturer alike shall be thrown open to our Southern neighbour, in the face of the United States Emergency tariff, which practically shuts out Canadian farm products from these markets, and also in the face of the permanent tariff now under consideration at Washington, which gives every promise of being even more drastic than the Emergency Tariff so far as our products are concerned.

In view of the attitude of the United States, what folly it is for Crerar and King to propose throwing open the Canadian market to a flood of both agricultural and manufactured products of the United States when there is not the slightest possibility of any compensative advantage to Canada.

Does any sane Canadian believe that Crerar or King, hat in hand, could persuade the United States Government to completely reverse its Tariff policies and agree to reciprocal trade in face of American public demand for a high protective Tariff?

The people of the United States conduct their affairs and protect themselves by the principle that "Business is business". Why should Canada do otherwise?

Unlike Crerar or King, MEIGHEN stands firm for a reasonable Tariff to protect all our industries—those of the farm, the sea, the mine, the forest, the factory, and for the building up of a bigger and better Canada through the full development of the home market.

FRIENDSHIP WITH THE UNITED STATES? YES, BY ALL MEANS!

BUT—— let us defend our home market, our industries, our farms, our workmen, our homes by the same methods as are used so effectively against us.

Let us work out our own destiny—that of a strong, self-contained nation within the British Empire group of Nations, courageous, masterful, self-reliant.

Canada Needs Meighen

AUTO TRUCK IS DAMAGED WHEN HIT BY STREET CAR

An auto truck belonging to the Snowflake Laundry and driven by T. B. Cross was damaged to the extent of a broken front wheel, fender, and shattered windshield when it was struck by a street car at the intersection of 104th street and Jasper avenue on Friday evening. The driver of the truck narrowly escaped injury. Jos. Caveau, the motorman of street car number 42, which struck the auto, states that he had stopped his car on west side of 104th street and 101st avenue to receive passengers and on starting he saw a truck suddenly crossing the intersection, the approach of which was screened by a westbound street car. The motorman applied the brakes but was unable to avoid striking the car. The street car was damaged to the extent of a broken fender.

New York, Nov. 19.—Unusual Indian summer weather enveloped New York yesterday with a record temperature of 71, the hottest November 18 known to the local weather bureau.

High Prices Are Obtained For Canadian Bonds

New York, Nov. 19—(Canadian Press)—New high prices for the year in Canadian provincial bonds were reported yesterday in the sale of two province of Saskatchewan issues. One small block will be offered to investors at a price to yield six per cent.

The two issues were sold to a syndicate composed of A. E. Ames and Company and Wood, Gundy and Company. One issue of $3,000,000 25 year 5 1-2 per cent bonds, payable in New York and Canada, was sold at approximately 95 1-2, which is about a 5 3-4 per cent basis.

The other block of $1,500,000, 25 year, six per cent was sold at 99.53. While the offering price of the two issues has not been announced, it is said to be certain that the second issue will be distributed above six per cent, payable in Canadian funds.

Recent Canadian provincial issues have gone at 5 14 to 5 1-2 per cent basis.

OUT OF THE BLUE

By BERTHA SHEAFER

(Copyright by the Frank A. Munsey Co., Published by arrangement with the Literary Digest Newspaper Syndicate).

IT had been growing more and more hazy below during the hou that had elapsed since Richard Harwood took to the blue from the aviation field near "The Breezes," the fashionable resort on Traverse bay, and now heavy, violet-gray vapors of late afternoon filled the depressions among the low, pine-covered hills, making the panaroma below swim uncertainly, like a sketchy Japanese print on velvet.

Even so, ordinarily the usually alert air voyager would never have mistaken the wide open stretch, with its fringe of silver birches, for a suitable landing place. But Harwood was not alert today. He had been jilted sn,ubbed, "thrown down," as he put it, by the adorable Dora Blair, social headliner and beauty extraordinary at the exclusive back-to-nature colony.

Of course, he reflected bitterly, to her he was only one of the "attractions." Something like the golf course, the tennis court, the bathing, or the bridle-path.

But then he was also something of a hero, with stripes of various degrees and a medal for distinguished service abroad, and the wilful Dora had really been at some pains to capture for herself the devotion of the slender, weather-browned aviator. It thrilled her to be the last on whom his eyes rested before he skimmd away, and gave her a feeling of glorified isolation to see him come straight to her after his breath-taking exhibitions on high.

"Yes, I was ace high," Harwood gibed at himself, "until that nabob steamed down the bay in his brass-bound mahogany palace. Funny, how we detest the wealth the other fellow's got," he mused. "And I'm not exactly poverty-stricken myself at that. Oh, well, let's go back and see if it hurts to turn the knife in the wound," he suggested to his plane, giving it the necessary persuasive manipulation.

But it was an off day, apparently, for now the engine of his generally so tractable conveyance began to act up. It was growing late, and rather than risk a forced descent later in the dark, he would land now and see what ailed the pesky thing.

His thoughts still resentfully occupied with the perfidy of the female sex, as personified in the lovely Dora, he swept back to the treeless space he had just passed and was gently gliding toward its western end when a shot brought him back to the important business of landing. At the same instant he noticed that the field below him was reed and rush edged water

Simultaneously the engine snorted, balked and died. The plane plunged.

"Damn—got to keep out from under—dive——"

He did not try to open his eyes—his head hurt so. He could not think—he must think——

When you're shot down out of the air, and there's anything left to think with, it is essential to determine your location and whether there is a chance of crawling back to your own lines. What was the last thing- Mist—a shot—water below."

Why, he wasn't shot down at all! He remembered now. He had dived into the lake when the engine went dead to keep from getting tangled and dragged down. It hadn't been very far below and he was at home in the water. Then why——

He moved his hands, and his fingers came into contact with something soft and wooley. His eyes opened heavily, painfully—and through his lashes he caught the gleam of a fire, partly masked by a silhouetted pair of khaki-clad legs, terminating in bare calves and sandaled feet. The hands and arms belonging to the legs were busily feeding brush and sticks to the glowing flame.

"Something funny about those legs."

He strained at his neck muscles in an attempt to get a better view. A groan escaped him as his head fell back upon the cushion tucked underneath.

"Lie still—I'll be there in a minute."

Evidently it was the khaki-and-barelegged figure that spoke. Also evidently, it was a woman's voice.

He must have been unconscieus for some time, he thought. The sudden northern twilight had deepened, and the fire threw only baffling shadows upon the face and figure of her who tended it. Odor of coffee—good coffee. It made him conscious of a sickish feeling. And now he watched her as she shifted the smoked coffee-pot to a flat stone pushed near the blaze before she came to him.

"Now, then," she spoke crisply, "how do you feel?"

"Awfully sore about the head."

"Should think you would."

Her matter-of-foct tone rather jarred upon him. Dora would have been more symphatetic.

"Guess I made an awkward dive," he ventured, trying to think his way through the haze that followed his sudden plunge from the plane.

"No, it was a beautiful dive—misplaced. Into four feet of water on a cobble beach."

"Oh! That's who happened to me?" He was beginning to understand.

"What made you do it? Why didn't you stick to the ship?" she inquired with a tinge of amusement in her voice.

He explained briefly, concluding with:

"If I'd kept my brains and eyes about me, I'd never have done such an idiotic thing. That is what comes of dreaming at the helm of an airship. Served me right."

Her silence seemed not to contradict his self-accusation.

"But how did I get here?" he resumed. "I didn't crawl out while I was unconscious?"

"No, and you weren't washed up on the beach. I waded out and got you," she finished in her dry, even tone.

"Got me?"

"You'd still be out there standing on your head and with your mouth full of gravel if I hadn't."

"Pretty heavy trick that—wasn't it? Getting me—I mean." He wondered how she managed it.

She hunched up her shoulders with a little grimace, as though still feeling the strain.

"I towed you to shore; that was easy: the water is even depth where you struck. But I did have to manhandle you somewhat, rolling and pulling, until I got you up here."

"I don't see how you ever did it," he marvelled, noting for the first time the clean folds of muscle beneath the skin of her bare white legs and gold-tinged arms. The thought of having been bundled about like a baby by this so eminently competent lady annoyed him. He did not admire strong women.

He liked the dainty type—lovely, ethereal creatures, all fluffed up, exquisited to the eye, inviting to the touch; in brief, replicas of Dora—or Dora herself—were to his liking.

"Anyway, the rolling and pommeling did you no harm, I hope, and it helped to squeeze out of you some of the water you had absorbed before I could get to you."

"And that reminds me,' she resumed, rising from the log on which she had rested; "there is coffee made and supper to get. Better try to stand up and see if you have dislocated anything. It's a wonder you didn't telescope yourself, coming down as you did. I had hardly fired you my salute when you came streaking down as if I had hit you."

Disconcerting, to say the least, was the attitude assumed by this strange young woman, who stepped about in khaki breeches and bare legs. Again Harwood could not help comparing her with the dainty Dora. Dora would have been full of tender solicitude and pretty little fears for him—or for any one for that matter, who had met with so spectacular an accident.

More than half annoyed, and with a feeling of irritation at being treated like a "case," he threw off the blanket which covered him and raised himself to a sitting posture. Another shock! He had been stripped of his jacket and shirt!

"They're over there, near the fire drying out," she volunteered in explanation.

"Damn!" The exclamation escaped him as he tried to rise. "I beg your pardon—I seem to have hurt my foot. Now how could that have happened? Caught it in the straps as I dived, I suppose."

A look of something like solicitude passed over her face. "Wonder if I did that yanking you about? See if you can get to the fire and I'll look at it."

Balanced by her hand, he limped up the slight rise beyond which the fire crackled invitingly. His coat and shirt hung drying on an improvised rack at its side. He also made out another garment—a long-skirted coat or blouse—and a pair of woman's stockings. So she didn't always go barelegged. And now he noticed her woolen shirt and knickerbockers were water-soaked.

"Oh I don't mind a soaking," she replied when he spoke of it commiseratingly. "You haven't a dry stitch on you, for that matter. Sit up close to the fire here and see if you can get your shoe off."

She ran back to the beach and brought him the cushion and blanket with which she had made him comfortable there, and then disappeared within the open door of a tiny log cabin which gleamed silver-gray among the pines.

He was poking an investigating finger into his lame foot when she returned. She had taken time to shed her wet garments and now stood before him her bare, sandaled feet showing beneath the hem of a long, straight cossack of some heavy brown woolen stuff.

She was taller than she had appeared, dressed as he first saw her, and above her sombre monkish robe her face gleamed against the blue-black of the woods, while golden gleams of firelight danced back from the depths of her dark-gray eyes, as though denying their serenity.

"Magnificent," he reluctantly admitted to himself.

"How does it look?" she asked, stooping to examine the injury. "Not much swelling."

Her voice was soft and pleasant; only so much more resonant than—Dora's for instance. Thinking about it, he almost forgot to reply.

"Nothing but a strain, probably," he said deprecatingly.

"Let us hope so. You will probably have trouble enough with your head and shoulders to keep you groaning for a few days."

She opened a little case she had brought and handed him a small bottle.

"You see, I am prepared for emergencies," she said "though this is the first time I ever had one come to me out of the blue."

While he applied the contents of the bottle to his tender muscles she poured some coffee into a tin cup, which, with other things, she took from a hamper standing nearby.

"I know you must be chilled, inside and out," she said, "and so we'll reverse the menu to suit the needs. Sugar? Yes? Cream—condensed, you know? There you are" and she handed him a cup of fine aroma and comforting warmth. "Think I'll have one myself," she concluded, suiting the action to the word. "And now I'll put the fish to fry before I fix that foot. Lucky I got a good string today. I was going to have roast corn and potatoes as well, but you interrupted the preparations."

"So sorry to intrude," he murmured insincerely. He was beginning to forgive her for being so exasperatingly competent and sure-footed in her unusual way.

The fish—fine black bass and a perch or two—were soon sputtering in the big 'company" frying pan she had gone back to the cabin for.

"It's really awfully good of you to take so much trouble about me," he apologised, as she bent over his foot, deftly swathing it in yards of white gauze. "I'm afraid I'm an awful nuisance."

"Not at all," she protested. "It's really jolly of you to drop in—even if you didn't intend to."

He noticed that her eyes had an odd way of crinkling with laughter while her lips remained unmoved, as though she would not humor the smile within her.

"I haven't had a caller this season, and this is my third week at the cabin."

"All alone?" he asked with surprise.

"All alone."

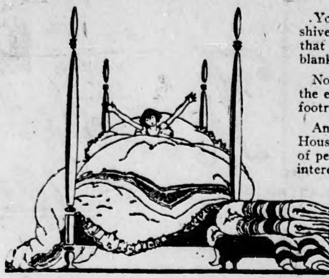
Store Hours 9 a.m. to 5.30 p.m. Every Day in the Week.

Bedding for Crisp Cold Nights



You go to bed when the evening is warm, and wake up shivering at 2 a.m. Think of having to waken Mother at that ghastly hour, only to find that there's not a single blanket or comforter in the house not being used.

No such management in the wise housekeeper's home; for the extra blanket or comforter will be hanging over the footrail or waiting on the closet shelf.

And these are just the comfortables that are wanted. Housewives, whose supplies have run low during the years of peak prices, will enjoy choosing from such a genuinely interesting collection.

Blankets

WHITE UNION BLANKETS—Nearly all wool, but just enough cotton to make them more durable. The prices will cause you to think twice.
Size 60 x 80 inches, $5.95 pair.
Size 64 x 84 inches, $7.50 pair.
Size 72 x 84 inches, $8.75 pair.

WHITE ALL WOOL BLANKETS—The soft, luxurious, woolly kind, woven from long wool yarns. They're from one of Canada's best mills. Observe a really low price.
Size 68 x 84 inches. $9.75 pair.

BRAEMAR SCOTCH WOOL BLANKETS—Made especially for Ramsey's by one of the best mills in the world; lovely blankets woven from the longest finest yarns, thoroughly shrunk and bleached, and singly whipped.
Size 66 x 80 inches, $12.50 pair.
Size 68 x 86 inches, $15.00 pair.
Size 72 x 90 inches, $17.50 pair.
Size 72 x 90 inches, $20.00 pair.
Size 72 x 94 inches, $24.00 pair.

GREY UNION BLANKETS—Woven from heavy coarse wool yarn with a good mixture of cotton, these are real blankets for hard wear and rough usage.
Size 54 x 74 inches, $4.75 pair.

Blankets

SILVER GREY WOOL BLANKETS—These are extra warm and very serviceable; they are often used in the home instead of white blankets. Woven from choice wool yarns in a twill weave with a close nap.
No. 7, 64 x 82 inches, $11.00 pair.
No. 8, 68 x 86 inches, $12.75 pair.

ABLE TO DO HER WORK

After Long Suffering Mrs. Peasey Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered with irregular menstruation, was weak and run down, could not eat and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains, so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy and I seemed to be smothering. I was in this condition for two or three years and could not seem to work. I tried all kinds of medicines and had been treated by physicians but received no benefit. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends and if these facts will help some poor woman use them as you please."—Mrs. J. F. Peasey, 387 King St., Toronto, Ontario.

If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Peasey did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health.

T. A. RUTLEDGE IS HONORED BY P.O. EMPLOYEES

He Goes to Winnipeg to Take Up Duties as Assistant Postmaster

On the accasion of his eaving Edmonton to take up his duties as Assistant Postmaster at Winnipeg, members of the Supervisory staff of the Edmonotn Post Office on Thursday evening presented T. A. Rutledge with a handsome silver tea set suitably engraved.

R. M. Lambertson, Supervisor of letter carriers made the presentation and in a few well chosen remarks commented upon the amicable relations which had existed between Mr. Rutledge and the departmental heads generally during the time he had been Assistant Postmaster here. And speaking on behalf of those present testified to the high degree of efficiency to which the local postal service had been brought, attributing this to Mr. Rutledge's executive ability and wide experience in the postal service in various parts of the Dominion.

The speaker expressed the hope that the present promotion was but a step to higher honors and that Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge would enjoy health and prosperity in their new sphere.

Mr. Rutledge who was visibly moved, having been taken completely by surprise heartily thanked those present on behalf of Mrs. Rutledge and himself for the beautiful gift and the kind sentiments expressed that evening.

Touching on the improvements which had been brought about in the local postal service since he came to Edmonton, the speaker said that he wished the general public to know that these were entirely due to the loyal, whole-hearted co-operation which he had received from the executive heads present, without whose assistance he would have been able to accomplish very little.

He also wished it to be known that although he was thoroughly acquainted with conditions prevailing in nearly every city post office in Western Canada speaking of the rank and file of the local staff he was certain that there was not a more loyal or competent staff of postal employees in Western Canada today.

He trusted that the good results already achieved in the local service would inspire the men to see that the standard was maintaind impressing upon those present that service to the public should always be their watch-word. He was bidding them good-bye but assured them that he would not be out of touch with Edmonton, and assured each and every one that whenever any of them visited the Manitoba capital, there would be "something doing" if they did not look him up, jocularly remarking that the same "old hat" he wore three years ago fitted him yet.

Members of the supervisory staff present were R. M. Lambertson and R. F. Dow of the letter carrier's branch, W. V. Perraton, H. W. Gregory and F. Crook Mail Despatch branch, T. R. Coldwell, E. Crossland and E. H. Palliser, City sortation, and C. Pinsent of the Registration dept.

CANADA'S FIRE LOSSES $287,860 IN ONE WEEK

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—Fire losses in Canada, during the week ended November 16, are estimated by the Monetary Times, at $287,860, compared with $215,500 the previous week.

Sloan's Liniment

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

Look years younger! Use the old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

BLUE RIBBON TEA

Rich! Strong! Delicious!

It stimulates a man for his work in the morning and helps him to forget his troubles at night. Ask for it.
